

TWENTY-SIXTH

ANNUAL REPORT

-OF THE-

HAWAIIAN

Mission Children's Society,

PRESENTED JUNE 15TH, 1878,

WITH THE

ONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS.

HONOLULU:

Printed at the Gazette General Printing Office. 1878.

TWENTY-SIXTH

ANNUAL REPORT

--OF THE-

HAWAIIAN

Mission Children's Society,

PRESENTED JUNE 15TH, 1878,

-WITH THE-

CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS.

HONOLULU:
Printed at the Gazette General Printing Office.
1878.

OFFICERS FOR 1877-78.

A. PRATT, PRESIDENT.

W. R. CASTLE, VICE-PRESIDENT.

LORRIN A. THURSTON, RECORDING SECRETARY.

M. A. CHAMBERLAIN, CORR. SECRETARY.

A. L. SMITH AND MISS LUCY WHITE, ASSISTANT CORR. SECRETARIES.

W. W. HALL, TREASURER.

J. T. WATERHOUSE, Jr., AND MISS NELLIE JUDD, ELECTIVE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD.

OFFICERS FOR 1878-79.

C. J. LYONS, PRESIDENT.

DR. C. S. KITTREDGE, VICE-PRESIDENT.

LORRIN A. THURSTON, RECORDING SECRETARY.

M. A. CHAMBERLAIN, CORR. SECRETARY.

A. I. SMITH AND MISS MINNIE KINNEY, ASSISTANT CORR. SECRETARIES.

W. W. HALL, TREASURER.

MRS. McCULLY AND DR. C. M. HYDE, ELECTIVE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD.

Minutes of the Annual Meeting,

Held in the Vestry of Fort Street Church, June 8th, 1878.

The meeting was called to order at the usual hour by the President, and opened with singing and prayer. Forty-four persons present.

The minutes of the previous meeting and of the Board having been read and approved, the election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows:

President-C. J. Lyons.

Vice-President-Dr. Kittredge.

Recording Secretary-L. A. Thurston.

Corresponding Secretary-M. A. Chamberlain.

Assistant Corresponding Secretaries—A. L. Smith and Miss Minnie Kinney.

Treasurer—W. W. Hall.

Elective Members of the Board—Mrs. McCully and Dr. C. M. Hyde.

Editors for the "Maile" for the coming period are—Mrs. J. E. Hillebrand, George P. Castle, Joseph S. Emerson, and Miss Hattie Peirce.

The Treasurer made a short statement relative to the manner in which the appropriations for the past year had been spent, and stated that there was a balance of about $40 to be made up, in order to pay all obligations.

The consideration of the appropriations for the coming year came next in order. Upon motion, the items were considered singly; after some discussion, principally as to the wording of some of the appropriations, they were passed as follows:

| Towards the support of teachers in Kawaiahao Seminary $200     |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------|
| Towards the support of youth in Hawaiian Boarding Schools,      |
| giving preference to the children of Missionaries and Minis-    |
| ters, to be disbursed by direction of the Board of Managers 900 |
| To the Mortlock Mission                                         |
| Towards the support of children in Micronesian Schools and      |
| of Catechists                                                   |
| Incidentals 150                                                 |

The appropriations were then passed as a whole, amounting to $1,500; and all the elections and appropriations being in accordance with the recommendation of the Board of Managers, the recommendation was adopted.

The collection amounted to $50, and three annual memberships, making a total of $53.

There were several amendments to the Constitution and By-laws, which will appear in the proper place.

The Society adjourned with singing, to meet in one week in the same place, to listen to the Reports of the Secretaries and Treasurer, and the address of the retiring President.

Respectfully submitted,

LORRIN A. THURSTON,

Recording Secretary.

Minutes of the Adjourned Annual Meeting, Held June 15th, 1878,

IN THE VESTRY OF FORT STREET CHURCH.

The meeting was called to order at the usual hour, President C. J. Lyons in the chair, and opened with singing and prayer. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and, with a slight alteration, approved, the Report of the Recording Secretary was presented, and, with an amendment, also approved.

The Report of the Corresponding Secretary which, as usual, was full of interest, was next presented and accepted.

The Musical Committee then favored the Society with a selection, succeeded by the Report of the Treasurer, which was approved.

The address of the retiring President, printed in the Report, will be found well worth perusal.

After another selection by the Musical Committee, Rev. Mr. Coan, A. O. Forbes, C. M. Hyde, S. C. Damon, and Dr. Boyd made a few remarks appropriate to the occasion. The motion was then made and carried that 500 copies of the Annual Report be printed.

Dr. and Mrs. Boyd were unanimously elected as Honorary Members of the Society.

The Society adjourned with singing, to meet at the house of A. F. Judd.

Respectfully submitted,
LORRIN A. THURSTON,

Recording Secretary.

Report of the Recording Secretary.

The Hawaiian Mission Children's Society was on the 5th of June, 1852, fairly ushered into existence. That date has come around now for the twenty-sixth time, and the Society has increased in numbers from 153—the number mentioned in the first Annual Report, and an annual appropriation of $600—to 729, and an annual appropriation of $1,500.

There have been fourteen meetings held during the past year: twelve regular, one annual, and one adjourned annual. The largest attendance during the year was 81, and the smallest (which, I am sorry to say, was at the Annual Meeting) 44; the average attendance has been 58.

1*

Twenty-nine persons have been made eligible as members; of these, seventeen reside in Honolulu, three on the other Islands, and twelve out of the Kingdom; their names are as follows:

Honorary Members—Dr. and Mrs. Pease, and Mrs. Knight. Eligible Members—Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Hyde, Miss Eunice Knight, Freddie Wood, Miss Helen Ludlow, Miss Susan Pinder, Mrs. T. M. Coan, Mrs. Latimer Coan, Miss Alice Moyle, Dr. Dodge and wife, Mr. Arundel, Mark Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilber, H. Reimenschneider, A. Hutchinson, Mrs. Justin Emerson, Frank P. Hastings, Mrs. M. L. Smith, Miss Lillie Lydgate, Miss Mary Burbank, Miss Mary Babcock, Misses Maggie, Mary and Katie McIntyre, Rev. T. B. Rose, Capt. and Mrs. Bray.

The number of new Life Members for this year is 27; of Annual Members, 32; and Honorary, 3; which added to 670, the number of life and honorary members for last year, gives a total of 732.

Several changes have been made in the Constitution and By-laws, the most important of which is the establishment of the office of a "Home Corresponding Secretary." The changes will appear in their proper places.

Although it may be considered the province of the Recording Secretary to state facts—merely concerning the meetings of the past year—yet it may be of interest to take a brief retrospective view of not only the year last past, but also of those years which bring up old memories and old associates to some of us, and which to others of us are matters of interest through tradition.

As we turn the leaves of the first Annual Report, the names of the officers are found to be:

President—Asa G. Thurston. Vice-President—C. E. Beckwith.

Recording Secretary—O. H. Gulick. Corresponding Secretary—Persis G. Taylor.

Treasurer-Henry M. Whitney.

Of these five pioneer officers, none are with us tonight. One has passed over the borders of the silent land; one is a missionary in Japan; and the others have scattered and found homes elsewhere. For 1853, we find the name of Oramel H. Gulick, as President; in 1854, Asa G. Thurston; in 1855, Warren Goodale.

In the Report for this year, we find that the system of Editorial and Musical Commttees was adopted; previous to this time different subjects were given out for discussion or essay at each meeting-some of the subjects would be equally in point at the present time; among them are, "The effects of large plantations on the morals and habits of a community, compared with those of small farms." "Is capital punishment justifiable?" "In the present war between Russia and Turkey, on which side should our sympathies be enlisted, and why?" "Is the introduction of Chinese laborers an advantage to these Islands?" The fifth President was W. H. Gulick; the sixth, Samuel C. Armstrong; the seventh, Wm. D. Alexander; the eighth, A. Francis Judd. Several resolutions are mentioned in this Report, one of which is, "Resolved: That it is the duty of each member of this Society to learn the Hawaiian language." As this resolution unanimously passed, and there is no further record concerning it, it is to be presumed that it is still in full force and effect.

The address of the retiring President, printed in this Report, is one of great interest to all Hawaiians; it is on the subject of the social condition of the Hawaiians, and their relations with foreigners, and is ably handled. The uinth President was Levi Chamberlain. Mention is made of the attendance of Lady Franklin at the annual meeting. The tenth President was W. D. Alexander. The name "Maile Wreath," which has since become almost an emblem of the Society, was this year originated; the membership at the close of this first decade in the Society's history was: honorary members, 3; life members, 259; and annual members, 32—making a total of 299. The total receipts for the year were $528.16; there was also a balance in the treasury at the beginning of the year of $723.73.

The eleventh President was A, O, Forbes; the twelfth, Samuel T. Alexander. At the annual meeting of this year the Constitution and By-laws were revised. and the present system of a Board of Managers was provided for. The President's address is on the subject of Hawaiian Education, and is of more than usual interest. The thirteenth President was R. W. Andrews. Mention is made in this Report of the establishment of a branch society in New York, by cousins residing there; it also stated that the back numbers of the "Maile" had been bound, -an idea which it would be well to put into execution at the present time. Frequent mention is made in the Report of the Corresponding Secretary for this year (1864-5) of cousins in the U.S. Army and Navy. The fourteenth President was Henry H. Parker. The printing of the "Maile Quarterly" was commenced this year. The fifteenth President was Thomas G. Thurston; the sixteenth, J. P. Cooke; the seventeenth, Henry A. P. Carter. The "Maile Quarterly" was this year discontinued, as the expense was found to be too great. There is an interesting table printed in this Report, in connection with that of the Treasurer, showing the officers, average amount of collections and attendance, and amounts of disbursements for the first seventeen years. The eighteenth President was E. P. Church. The loss of the "Morning Star" is spoken of in this Report. The nineteenth President was Sanford B. Dole; the twentieth, Sereno E. Bishop. The death of Rev. H. Aea, in Micronesia, on the 27th May, 1872, is in this Report mentioned. The cousins had contributed to his support for ten years, and well was the money spent; some of his last words were: "Tell the Mission Children's Society I leave my children to them." The Chicago fire is also mentioned, in which our consins, D. B. and F. O. Lyman, lost considerable property. Mrs. Sturges and her daughter were in the city at the time, and the hotel in which they were staying was burned. This year (1872) also notes the first greatgrand-child of the Hawaiian Protestant Mission-a daughter to Mrs. Mary Moseley Crocker, the granddaughter of the pioneer Father Bingham. This child may be considered a kind of Moopuna or keiki hanai of the cousins. The twenty-first President was Rev. H. Bingham; during this year the establishment of Auxiliary Societies was provided for, and the Cousins' Photograph Album was opened, and still remains open to additions from all cousins. The twenty-second President was L. McCully; during this year all the surviving members of this Mission were admitted as Honorary members, and the names of those who have departed this life also placed upon the list. A table is presented in the Report of the names, date of arrival, and date of decease of those who are no more, of all the members of the Mission. The total number is 152. The twenty-third President was P. C. Jones. The prominent feature of this year was the establishment of a permanent Society fund, by the gift to the Society of $500 by our cousin E. C. Bond. This is to remain until the interest and principal, together with whatever may be added to it, shall reach the sum of $2000; after which the income may be used for the purposes of the Society. The twenty-fourth President was Geo. H. Dole; the twenty-fifth, James M. Alexander; and the twenty-sixth will to-night speak for himself.

As those years in the history of a country, which are the most prosperous, are usually the ones affording the fewest prominent points, so it may be said of the last two or three years in the history of our Society nothing startling or unusual has occurred, but it has been a period of steady progress and advancement.

Long live Hawaii and the Cousins' Society.

Respectfully submitted,

LORRIN A. THURSTON,

Recording Secretary.

Corresponding Secretary's Report.

"Better is the end of a thing than the beginning thereof," said the wisest of men; and as the annual work of compiling the events customary to this department is contemplated, the remark has a wonderful freshness.

Twenty-six years of this unique organization successfully completed! Who can doubt that the lubricating oil that keeps the machine in running order is its active missionary spirit? Turn we then, without further delay, to Items from missionary and foreign fields.

The "Morning Star" returned from Micronesia on 9th February, 1878, after a cruise of seven months, and brought the usual tide of interest.

The letters of the Hawaiian missionaries in the field to the Society were lacking this year, (Rev. Mr. Kapu being still in Hawaii); but the reports from Captain Colcord, and letters received by Rev. H. Bingham, Secretary of the Hawaiian Board, brought tidings of unusual interest from the Gilbert Islands.

On Apaiang the Harvest Home seems approaching, after the long sowing in tears.

A simple code of laws had been framed and adopted, a regiment of soldiers enlisted to help enforce order, whose daily drill was preceded by reverential prayer! The young King has joined the Church, and formed a temperance society; and the number of converts decidedly increased.

Strong petitions were sent up, signed by the King and others, for the return of Rev. and Mrs. H. Bingham, and especially for Rev. H. J. Taylor with his wife and mother.

From the Marshall Islands, brief letters were received from Rev. and Mrs. Joel F. Whitney, whose labors had been much hindered by the war spirit which kindled more than a year ago, and had widely affected their church members and broken up their schools. They rejoiced to report, however, that Martyn—one of our beneficiaries—had stood firm through it all, and one other had also been a great comfort to them.

From Ponope and the Mortlock Islands, as usual, most interesting reports were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Rand had paid a visit to Ebon of several months, and returned in the "Star," " arriving," as Mrs. Rand says in her letter, "on Thanksgiving Day." They had regretted, most in their absence, the breaking up of their flourishing school. Mr. Sturges wrote letters to the Treasurer and to Mr. J. E. Chamberlain, former delegate to those Islands; and from the latter we cull a few sentences. "This trip of the 'Star' to our foreign work has been very delightful and encouraging. * * * You will be glad to know that the little churches you helped me to organize are prospering and increasing. Then, too, you will be glad to hear that still other Islands, even beyond the Hogolu. are peopled by the same kind, pleasant people as the Islands you saw. We had some very pleasant interviews with some chiefs and people from Jok, west of Ruk; they called for teachers, and promised to go home and get ready for them, and we promised to go to them some time. Would that it might be next year!" In his letter to the Treasurer, he asks if it would be agreeable to the wishes of the cousins, that a portion of their appropriation should be expended towards printing and purchase of press, and prepare books and lessons for these gentle, loving Islanders so eager to learn.

By the "Storm Bird," which arrived a few weeks since, we received a very full and interesting letter, prepared with great care, giving an account of all the native missionaries sent out from Ponope to the West. which letter will be printed as an addenda to this Report. This letter of Mr. Sturges was copied in a clear distinct hand by Mrs. Sturges, and may be her last labor of love for our Society, for it grieves us exceedingly to hear that her health is failing so rapidly that she may not be with them to welcome the "Morning Star" on her annual trip of good cheer and love. Her last words in a private letter to the Corresponding Secretary are: "I have only strength to say my health is declining, but the dear Saviour is with me, enabling me to rejoice in life or death. I know you will pray for us, dear friends. Pray especially for our work.

It is a long time since we had a report from the

MARQUESAS ISLANDS,

And as many of us are deeply interested there still, though we have ceased to contribute to the support of Rev. S. Kauwealoha, it is a great pleasure to acknowledge a long letter from him to the H. M. C. S., dated May 14th, 1877. It was received very soon after the last Annual Report was completed and in the press. He gently complains that it is four years since he has heard from us, and thinks, in our large membership—"poe lehalehu mai Hawaii a Kauai"—some one could remember him with letters. The Secretary answered this letter in the early part of this year, 1878.

He tells us that their Girls' Boarding School was relinguished in January, 1877, (though reluctantly), because of the lack of fresh pupils. His wife spent three weeks in November, 1875, in a circuit of Fatuhiwa and Hivaoa, in a vain attempt to secure more scholars, and he himself, in January, 1876, made another circuit in vain. He thinks the cause of their reluctance to education may be owing to the results of the experiment tried some years ago by Rev. J. Bicknell, in carrying a number of Marquesan youths to Honolulu for education. A number of them died here; and those who returned gave the impression to the people there, that they died because of learning books; and the people now are afraid of learning. Another reason of disbanding was, that provisions were very high, and their appropriations for the school were not renewed from Honolulu. reports that Mr. Eggman, the French Governor residing there, had urged him to open a boys' school; and as they were able by manual labor to do something for their own sustenance, he had consented, and had then seven boys with him. He thinks the girls who have left their school are all making steady women, keepers at home-some of them members of the church. Their great obstacle in missionary labors is, that Romanism had gained such a foothold. He desires our continued prayers.

JAPAN

Sends no direct letter thus far; but letters from Rev. O. H. Gulick and wife and Miss Julia A. Gulick, sent to relatives here, with particulars of the last days and tranquil end of their venerated father, have been widely circulated.

SPAIN,

We are rejoiced to feel, is in direct communication. An interesting letter from Rev. Thomas L. Gulick, dated Zaragossa, July 31, 1877, in answer to the letter of your Secretary, was very welcome. It enclosed, for publication in the "Hawaiian Gazette," an article originally prepared for the "Missionary Herald," entitled "Priest or Devil." As the article was printed in December last, no doubt many of the cousins have read it. By the last mail a very neat little paper, in Spanish, and bearing Spanish postage, came to hand. The title is "El Christiano." It assures us we are still remembered. Cousin Thomas wrote thus: "Many thanks for the Reports of the three years previous, which came duly to hand. I found them exceedingly interesting, especially the Secretary's Reports," and he closed "with much Aloha to all the Cousin Band."

Under the head of

GENERAL CORRESPONDENCE,

We have some very pleasant letters and favors to acknowledge.

Gen. S. C. Armstrong did not write his usual letter to the Society this year, as he had so many letters to answer to individuals, acknowledging the gifts of curios, etc., sent to himself or the Hampton Institutute by his brother, Wm. N. Armstrong and Miss Helen Ludlow. We are privileged to make a few extracts from one such letter, dated Nov. 9th, 1877: "Thank you very much for the beautiful specimens of lava stalactites crusted with alum (for a Kilauea case), and for the specimens dipped up by your cane from the boiling mass; also for the specimens of very fine lace coral from Molokai, etc. I am brought very near my old home by the visit of my brother and sister. Miss Ludlow is lecturing to the students about her visit. Hampton is getting to be a Hawaiian colony."

Miss Ludlow herself has written a charming letter to the cousins, under date of March 9th, 1878. She begins: "Dear Cousins,—You said I might call you so, and I hope you have not taken it back, though there has been time, you may say, for you to have forgotten the very existence of one who has done so little to keep her memory green." She sent her Life Membership fee of $10, and jocosely assures us, she has not published the 187th true and reliable history of the Hawaiian Kingdom! for which, of course, we thank her. She also adds: "We have the delightful accession to our force in the school, of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Armstrong; the former is devoting himself to the instruction of the negro law students."

Mrs. M. V. Hooker, of the Boston Branch, writes, Dec. 6, 1877: Yesterday I sent $11 to Mr. Ward, the Treasurer of the American Board, for the Cousins' Society, being a dollar apiece and a little more for each Boston Cousin. Just at Christmas tide a beautiful wedding invitation came from Kalamazoo, Mich., to the Secretary, to attend the wedding in St. Luke's Church, of our cousin Justin E. Emerson, M. D., (the notice of whose marriage will be recorded in the usual place). A newspaper account of the very interesting ceremony was afterwards received, which almost brought the scene before us. It was copied into the 'Maile Wreath' for circulation. Dr. Emerson and bride are now traveling and studying medicine together in Europe.

Many kind acknowledgments of the Reports of the H. M. C. S. have been received. The earliest of these was a charming letter from Abbie Bond, in Auburndale, Mass.; but the Report she read "was Miss Carrie Snow's," and our timid little Abbie begged to be considered old enough and "dignified" enough now to receive a Report addressed to herself henceforth. So be it, we promise. Many acknowledgments are in private letters to the Secretary. Rev. James P. Chamberlain writes in October: Last Saturday evening we had a sort of missionary meeting, and the house was filled. I gave them your last Report; was interested in J. M. Alexander's address. Mrs. Mary Haven Edwards, of San Francisco, and Hattie F. Coan have both spoken of the Reports, and sent Aloha to the Society, and the latter sent her photograph for the Cousins' Album. She is now teaching in Auburn, N. Y. She mentioned having paid a short visit to Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Church, in Grenville, Mich., last Fall. She also writes that cousin Anna Paris has been asking how to subscribe for the Annual Reports. We would suggest that the best way to subscribe is to become a Life Member. Her name is missing in our list, and has been overlooked in that way. Pleasant notes from Fanny and Luella Andrews were received by the Secretary, after their father's death. Fanny is a senior in Mt. Hol. Seminary, and Luella is in Elmira College, N. Y.

A very long and interesting letter from Mrs. Carrie Armstrong Beckwith, to the Secretary, is yet to be shared by the Cousins; and the latest item of correspondence is another wedding card, in the highest style of modern art, post-marked Providence, R. I., from Lizzie Morse Gulick. This notice will be inserted in the list of marriages.

Joel Bean sends messages of remembrance for himself, wife, and daughter, Lilie.

RECORD OF EDUCATIONAL WORK.

No report has been received from the Haleakela Boys' School, though it appears from the Treasurer's statement that the largest proportion of last year's general appropriation for children in schools was given there. The Secretary, however, did not send them a special reminder, hoping the circular would be a sufficient hint.

From the report of the Principal of Kawaiahao Girls' Seminary, we extract the following items: "There have been more changes in the Faculty. Our dear Miss Flaxman having returned from England to resume ardnous duties here, after an absence of five and a half years. One of the assistant pupils and three of the pupils have united with the Church. The number of pupils has not been less than thirty-four, and we now number thirty-nine." The Secretary having particularly asked for statistics of marriage in all the girls' schools, Miss Bingham gives the following interesting facts of this oldest of our Seminaries: "There have been seven marriages since our examination last June, making in all fifty-two (as far as known) of the one hundred and seventy-two who have been boarded here as pupils. Two of the fifty are now widows; three have died; and five have deserted their husbands. Nearly all have had children—some of them quite a number. Three of the brides of last year are already happy mothers." She estimates that one-half of the fifty have married pure Hawaiians, the others into other races.

Miss Mary E. Green, of Waialua Seminary, sends a full and very interesting report, from which we only quote briefly, hoping to have the whole in the "Maile Wreath:" "The school entered on its eighth year last month. Number of pupils at present thirty-six. Death took one from her father's house during the vacation of 1877,—sweet Maria Nathaniel. Her last words were a prayer. Twenty-two are married—nearly all comfortably settled. We anticipate in a few weeks the arrival of Miss Adella N. Boyce, of Oberlin, Ohio. She will come to us with valuable experience from a mission as teacher of the Freedmen of Chattanooga Seminary." After a tender remembrance of services of teachers and assistant pupils who have left to pursue their education still further, she mentions changes and improvements in the buildings, and adds: "Water is brought to our door, across the stream, from a large spring, which has never been known to fail. The simplicity of the mode of transferring the water assures its permanency. As there has been no assistant teacher during the last seven months, we fail this summer of our usual sale of fancy articles."

Miss Lizzie Lyons, of Kohala Girls' Seminary, reports very briefly: "We commenced the year with fifty-six pupils, and close with fifty. Health of the pupils has been good. Four pupils have been married the past year. A sale of fancy articles was held at the close of the last year." Miss Lyons lost her assistant teacher, Miss Alice Moyle, in January, 1878, though a reference to the list of marriages will show that her loss was a gain to one of the Kohala Cousins. Since then, Miss L. has labored single handed, till quite lately, when we hear that Mrs. Sarah J. Ladd, one of the former residents of Houolulu, and well-known among us-who is now a widow-has consented to become an assistant there; and we congratulate Cousin Lizzie Lyons and our Society on this addition to the choice workers.

Miss Helen E. Carpenter, of Makawao School, who has very lately broken away from her cares, and startfor a vacation for a few months in the United States. left a few items with us, in the few hurried moments "Numbers of pupils had varied she had in Honolulu. from thirty-five to forty. Health of the institution uniformly excellent. They held a fair at the close of the school year, which realized $400, which was appropriated to finishing off the building and improvements. The Government gave a grant in aid of $500 and a sale of some land in Hana, Maui, formerly the property of the American Board of Missions, made saleable by the Reciprocity Treaty, realized $500 more, making in all $1400, which has been expended on the building-some rooms in which had never been furnished. Miss C. said she thought that now her school-room was the handsomest one of its kind on the Hawaiian Islands. The dormitories and dining room have also been finished off, and some outside improvements made."

Mrs. M. S. Smith fills Miss Carpenter's place in her absence; and by the last steamer, Miss Sarah Kent arrived, a young lady secured as an assistant for Mrs. S. by Miss Carpenter while in San Francisco. Miss Kent is a native of Nova Scotia; her home was not far from Halifax, and she had but lately arrived in California to visit a sister, who is a successful teacher in one of the Oakland schools. "The monthly concert contributions of the girls have amounted to $35. Miss Lillie Sniffen, a pupil in the institution ever since its re-opening, is now a very efficient assistant, and Rachel Kekela, daughter of Rev. James Kekela, of the Marquesas Mission (one of our beneficiaries), is also a great help."

We must limit, as much as possible, the closing items of the Report, and confine them to the statistics that are so interesting eyer. We commence at once with

MARRIAGES.

In New York City, June 20, 1877, T. M. Coan, M. D., formerly of Hilo, Hawaii, to Leonie, daughter of W. Moeri, of Besancon, France.

In San Francisco, June 20, 1877, S. Latimer Coan, of Hilo, Hawaii, to Jutie Biggs, of San Francisco.

At Waimea, Kauai, Nov. 30, 1877, H. Reimen-schneider to Miss Ellen L. Rowell.

In Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 26th, 1877, Justin E. Emerson, M. D., formerly of Waialua, Oahu, to Miss Williemena H. Eliot, M. D., of Michigan.

In Kohala, Hawaii, Jan. 28th, 1878, E. Cornelius

Bond to Miss Alice R. Moyle, of San Francisco.

In Detroit, Mich., April 25, 1878, A. B. Lyons, M. D., formerly of Waimea, Hawaii, to Miss Edith Eddy, daughter of Rev. Dr. Eddy.

In Sharon, Pa., May 4th, 1878, Hon. E. O. Hall, of Honolulu, to Miss Mary Dame, of Mass.

In Providence. R. I., May 16, 1878, Mr. Chas. A. Gamwell to Miss Elizabeth Morse Gulick, formerly of Honolulu.

(We have been informed that our Cousin Lulie Kinney is no longer Mrs. Rice, having been married a second time, and that she has a child, but so far no one can give correct information as to her present name and address.)

BIRTHS.

Under this interesting head, our first entry must be to rectify an omission of last year's report. Little Emeline Rea has been a ray of sunshine all the past year in the home of J. Porter and Mrs. Hattie (Parker) Green, in all their trials.

And we may here also mention the advent of two little sons in the family of Lieutenant Theodore Forbes, which have been overlooked. The eldest, T. F. Jr., having a notable birth-day, July 4th, 1876, and his little brother some fourteen months later; while the sad loss of their darling Grace, of six years, (of diptheria) occurred soon after the birth of her first brother.

We are informed that our Cousin Wm. H. Gulick, of Santandar, Spain, has two little sons, whose birth has never been chronicled in our annals.

Come we now to the list proper of the year:

In Cedar Rapids, Iowa, to Mrs. Sarah (Dimond) Kinney, a daughter.

In Cedar Rapids, Iowa, to Mrs. Lena (Smith) Waterhouse, a son.

In Exeter, N. H., to Mrs. Mary (Anderson) Street, a daughter.

In Honolulu, to Mrs. Juliet (Cooke) Atherton, a son. In Oakland, Cal., to Mrs. Charles K. Clark, a son.

In Hilo, to Mrs. Ellen (Holden) Sisson, a son.

In Honolulu, to Mrs. Nina (Goodale) Wolfe, a daughter.

In Honolulu, to Mrs. Sarah (Rogers) Sunter, a son. In Lihue, Kauai, to Mrs. Emma (Lyman) Wilcox, a daughter. In Honolulu, to Mrs. A. Pratt, a daughter.

In Rube, Ebon, to Mrs. Louise M. Whitney, a son.

In Lahaina, Maui, to Mrs. Mary (Richardson) Gay, a son.

In Honolulu, to Mrs. Hattie (Baldwin) Damon, a daughter.

In Hilo, to Mrs. Hattie (Castle) Coleman, a son.

In Onomea, to Mrs. Carrie (Clark) Austin, a daughter.

In Los Angeles, Cal., to Mrs. Theodore W. Gulick, a son.

In San Francisco, Cal., to Mrs. Mary (Haven) Edwards, a son.

In Waimea, Kauai, to Mrs. Clara (Rowell) Dole, a son.

In Haiku, Maui, to Mrs. James M. Alexander, a son. In Makawao, Maui, to Mrs. Emily (Alexander) Baldwin, a son.

In Honolulu, to Mrs. Julia (Johnson) Fyfe, a son.

In Oakland, Cal., to Mrs. Helen (Whitney) Kelley, a daughter.

In Hilo, to Mrs. Latimer Coan, a son.

In Honolulu, to Mrs. Nealie (Beckwith) Damon, a son.

In Honolulu, to Mrs. E. P. Adams, a daughter.

* In Haiku, Maui, to Mrs. M. (Cooke) Alexander, a daughter.

DEATHS.

With reverent touch would we approach this familiar but always fresh page of sorrow. "How our holy memories cluster."

Again we must write of the thinning ranks of the Fathers and Mothers of this Mission. Four honored names are, this year, stricken from the roll of earth.

Rev. J. F. Pogue died in Laramie, Wyoming Territory, on the summits of the Rocky Mountains, on his homeward journey, December 4th, 1877, and was buried in a cemetery on the snowy hill-side. He was unconscious in his last hours, and was ministered to by strangers, all but one, his faithful, youngest daughter, E. Lizzie Pogue, who returned home at once,—"alone, yet not alone in her journeying."

* NOTE. -- This last arrival is the twenty-second grand-child in the Alexander family.

Rev. P. J. Gulick, in Japan, peacefully slept in Jesus December 8th, 1877, with a goodly number of his children and grand-children around him, leaving a testimony of long years,—"lived absolutely without fear of death." Father and Mother Gulick had celebrated their golden wedding a few months previous, and on November 3rd, 1877, had observed the fiftieth anniversary of their entering on the Missionary work. Our limits forbid of a more extended notice of his dying testimony and touching funeral exercises.

On the 5th of January, 1878, Rev. J. S. Green, of Makawao, Maui, "as a shock of corn fully ripe," was garnered. A few hours of severe illness, were followed by unconsciousness, and he woke in heaven. And before the month was out, on the 16th of January, 1878, the summons came for Mrs. R. D. Forbes, in Philadelphia, Pa. A week's prostration with pneumonia, and "she slept in Jesus without a struggle or a groan." Her last effort, was to respond by a pressure of the hand to the words: "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me."

We may also note here the death at sea of Mrs. Harriet A. Peirce, October 15th, 1877, the mother of our adopted cousins Hattie and Sarah Peirce. Her remains were embalmed and brought to Honolulu for interment.

As our minds dwell on all these beloved ones, we can almost say, with the immortal Dreamer, "Now I heard in my dream that all the bells in the city rang again for joy, and that it was said unto them, Enter ye into the joy of Our Lord."

Of our regular membership, the earliest called to leave us, was Hattie Eilis, one of Hawaii's daughters, brought up as a daughter in the family of Dr. and Mrs. G. P. Judd. She ministered to them both in their last days, and was accepted by the family as an adopted sister. Suddenly she faded away. A few brief weeks of fever, which were ministered to by the family as one of their own, and she slept on the 30th of July, 1877, and was buried from "Sweet Home," in the family lot. Childhood's tears fell like rain on her coffin; touching tribute to her sweetness and love.

From St. Augustine, Florida, in November, 1877, came a tale of sorrow and bereavement, in the family of Rev. C. O. and Mrs. Lucy (Bingham) Reynolds, that touched the tenderest chords of sympathy. Yellow fever swept through the household, and brought nearly every member of it near to the gates of death; but only one was taken, gentle, loving Nellie, of fourteen years.

Thick and fast comes the record of the little ones, "not lost, but gone before." August 3d, Walter Wilbur was snatched from the arms of his mother, in a fearful plunge into the waters of our bay, to wake in the arms of the Saviour. In August also, Cousin Nina Wolfe's sweet baby opened her beautiful eyes on this sad world for a few days, and was gone. Sept. 13th, died in Wailuku, Maui, Elme de Vere, infant son of James C. and Lucy D. Bailey, aged thirteen months." Few words, but only stricken hearts can read all they mean.

Early in December, Frank C. Lyman, son of David B. and Mrs. Mary Cossitt Lyman, a noble boy of nearly five years, was seized by that scourge of Eastern homes, diptheria, and in a few brief hours his summons came. Throwing his arms, for a last kiss, round his mother's neck, he said: "Good morning, mama," and was soon in the Morning Land where shadows never come. April, 1878, was a month of tears in Honolulu! The Death Angel hovered over many households, and chose the "lambs without blemish." From our membership the choice was made thus: April 3d, wee Frank, son of Henry W. and Julia H. Waterhouse, aged fourteen months and two days. April 4th, bonny little Emma, cherished daughter of John T. Jr. and Eliza B. Waterhouse, aged ten months. April 24th, Edith Louise Pratt, darling of her parents and of all the pupils of Punahou, lay like a "gathered lily;" and April 25th, tiny Charlie Fyfe, after a brave struggle for life for nearly three weeks, was needed among the angels. Blessed little band, thus saith Jesus; "For I say unto you that in Heaven their angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in Heaven."

Respectfully submitted,

M. A. CHAMBERLAIN,

Corresponding Secretary.

Honolulu, June 15, 1878.

Letter from Rev. A. A. Sturges.

PONAPE, AUGUST 16, 1878.

Names of Ponape teachers aided by the Cousins' Society and others at the Hawaiian Islands,

OPATAIA AND OPATINIA

were baptized in 1864, into what is now the Oua Church, then at Aru, a neighboring district. Opatinia is an only child of good Ejikaia (Hezekiah), is of the royal blood, and from her stately figure and winning manners, is a born leader. She shows a very superior intellect, and au aptness in teaching, remarkable for a native. Her father was the war chieftain of the island, and such a dread had he made himself to his tribe and the island, that, on the death of the King, he insisted that the chief under him in rank should step up to the throne, as he himself was a bloody man and not fit for a ruler. After his conversation in 1863, he was as remarkable for humility and love of peace as he had been for ambition and war. Opatinia's mother was of an ancient chief family in the Kiti tribe, long remarkable for their great size and light skins. I baptized an aunt lately who stands almost six feet, and would anywhere be recognized as a royal personage. Opatinia's mother was one of a large harem, but became jealous of her husband, and left him to spend years of widowhood, and die in her native tribe. Opatinia very early attached herself to us, was a very bright scholar, and soon made a useful teacher in school. Her husband. though not high in rank, is of a good stock-active, strong, and one of the most willing and able-bodied natives I ever knew. Both have been invaluable to us in our early efforts to get our work started on Ponape. I see not how we could have got along without their help; for years he was my right-hand man, and she-especially while my wife was in the States-was highly useful in doing work, both as a school teacher and among the women of our congregations. So very essential did this couple seem to our home work that I could not entertain the thought of sending them abroad. till God pressed the sacrifice upon me by seeming to withhold blessings on my work; and then when I resolved to give them up, I felt such peace of mind that I was fully prepared for some of the blessings that soon followed. A few days after I had made up my mind to give this couple up-but before I had intimated it to any one-her father came into my study, having on such a serious look that I discerned he had something special to say, and as we had so often talked over the matter of a foreign mission, and the "Morning Star" was near at hand, I asked: "Whom are we to send?" The old war chieftain. brushing away the tears, broke the ensuing silence by asking: "What about my children, are they fit to go?" At this my heart was too full to speak, but I saw it was of the Lord; we knelt down and prayed together-rose up of one mind, talked matters over a little, and then there was born the little "Ponape Board," in which you and others are taking so much interest. A few hours afterwards the children came in looking so happy and smiling that I knew they had heard some good news, and they were not long in revealing to me that the good news was, that they were to be allowed to go and tell of a Saviour's love to their neighbors on other islands. This was in 1872. The "Morning Star" came, and could not go on West, so they had to wait another year, which was a great trial, though they found the delay profitable as they continued their preparations for the great work before them.

PARNAPAJ AND LOIJ-(BARNABAS-LOIS).

This was the first couple appointed to go with them. They were baptized in 1870. Loij was an adopted sister by Opatinia, and mostly raised with her, and though not more that 18 or 20 years old when appointed on the Mortlock Mission, had shown some skill in teaching, and has since done her share of the Her husband was especially marked as a worker on buildings; his frame was very strong, and he took hold of hard work with such a will that it was pleasant to have him about. He will always be known in his native district as the one who took the premium on the stone church at Oua, the premium being a calico shirt; he was not a member of the church at the time, but was a ready worker. They have both stood well; he is known among the Mortlockers as the loving, gentle missionary.

TEPIT AND JERA .- (DAVID AND SARAH.)

Jera, once the wife of a white man, Harry Blackledge, afterwards married Tepit, both joined the Kiti church in 1861. They were the first couple sent out as home missionaries; they did a good work at this place, Ona; afterwards went to Anak, where a church was afterwards organized, which still considers him as their missionary. They took a place alone on Lukanor, and most wonderfully have they worked up their field; they have the "frescoed church," the best in West Micronesia; live in a good dwelling; own two large proas, and have the esteem of the people generally. We regard Tepit as a very growing man, he is a born leader; she is older, but has mastered the language; loves her work, and the people love her; everything about their house and premises looks neat. These three couples were landed on the Mortlocks, January 8th, 1874, and have all been blessed. Opataia was ordained an Evangelist in 1875, and Tepit 1877,

Manaja and Jilepa.—(Manasa and Zilpa.)

This couple were landed on Pingilap in 1874, succeeding Jakioj (Titus), who returned to Ponape that year after burying his wife there.

Jilepa, as the wife of Jakioj, began missionary life on Mokil, returning a widow to Ponape in 1873, after spending two useful years there. She married our good deacon and preacher Manaja, now the faithful and beloved paster of the Pingilap church, which comprises more than two hundred members. They live in the largest dwelling house in Micronesia, are the best fed and happiest couple I know of; and though they may not long need help from our Board, they will always be grateful for what they have received.

MOJEJ AND JIPORA, OF PONAPE.—(MOSES AND ZIPPORA.)

The day before the Caroline anchored in Ponape, 1852, a little battle took place between two parties, mostly Kingsmill natives, who had resided on this island some years—quite a number were killed—a little boy alone was left, out of one large family, and his life was sought lest when grown he should avenge their death; that little boy was siezed upon and adopted by a chief woman, who was afterwards one of the first three baptized on Ponape, and that boy is now Mojej, on Etal, and bids fair to be the "coming man" on the Mortlocks. While his adopted mother lived, a church member, he was much about us till he was some ten or twelve years old; after that he lived with the heathen, though always a favorite in our friendly circle. On my return from the States, I found him attached to the Christian party at Kiti, becoming a scholar. married a chief woman some years older than himself, but smart, and born to lead-both joined us in our work and school at Oua, where they made rapid progress, and did most excellent service as teachers, and he, as a preacher. In 1876 they went as a part of the first reinforcement to the Mortlocks. It was a pity to take them when their education was hardly more than begun, but they were needed at the West; and he certainly is the one to continue his education.

MOJEJ AND JIPORA, OF MOKIL.—(MOSES AND ZIPPORA.)

This couple came down with me on the Morning Star in 1871, spent some time in school here, went back to their native island, spent a couple of years there teaching, then returned here to school—he was licensed to preach, and with his wife, went in the trip of the Morning Star in 1876, and were located on Ta, to take Opataia's place, that he might be more free to go about.

A second reinforcement was sent to the Mortlocks in the last trip of the Morning Star, 1877.

JOLOMAN AND JUJAN .- (SOLOMON AND SUSAN.)

Joloman was an only son of one of my first friends on Ponepe, the chief of the district where I was located. He was born a few months after my landing here, and as a child, was a favorite in my family, from his very early showing a benevolent heart by sharing his dinners with my Hattie. Jujan, who was an only child of a neighbor, and was so pleasant, and so unlike most of the children about us, that we were glad to have her come and play with our Hattie, who, for many years, had no play-mate. I was quite overcome when, on bidding this dear couple good-bye on Mortolock, while I held Jujan by one hand, she put into the other a very superior and rare belt, saying, "I want this to go to Hattie."

ALEKJANTRA AND ALEKJANTRINA.—(ALEXANDER AND ALEXANDRINA.)

He is a cousin to Opatinia, and has long wanted to go West; he wanted to go with the first company, but did not succeed in getting a pass from the Prudential Committee, mostly because of some idiosyncracies. His wife is a good singer, as he also is, and both have shown some skill in teaching-he in preaching.

These eight couples are all the choice of our workers, and when, from time to time they were going out, we did not see who were left to take their places; but some how, and somewhere, others have sprung up to take their places, and our home-fields do not seem neglected; now we have seven district schools running, and two more are to be set going in a few days. I have to count myself nine to get a preacher for all my Sunday congregations, and don't seem troubled to make out the count, and what is quite as good, we do not seem likely to be troubled to get bread and shirts for these our children, since you have shown such a moneyed interest in them.

I have thus given you the names of your adopted children in the foreign field as they count, there will be others to add from time to time. I do not know that this is just the information you ask, or all you ask. I will add a few items to show how we provide for these teachers. They get their food, houses and work all done by their people, and some get presents in the way of twine, that I have turned into useful articles for their persocal use. All we seek, or need to do, is to provide them with clothing and conveniences in their homes, such as we can conveniently do; they ask nothing, and get nothing, but what is offered them, and you could hardly want more thankful, and I think, worthy receivers of your generous benefactions. All are now comfortable in their houses and dress, and seem quite like civilized folks,

Of the preachers employed in our home field, only two or three need special notice.

NARCISSUS SAN DELOS

Is a native of Manila, had some education in the Spanish language, came young to this island, took a wife, as did Moses, in a priest's family. He made a living, as did most foreigners, by trading for ships, especially in girls. He and his wife were the early ones to be interested in the truth, and were two of the first three to be baptized on Ponape; she took the name of Meri Maktelin, insisting on the latter part of the name, as she felt that at least seven devils had gone out of her! They were baptized in 1860, and have remained faithful and useful. He soon gave himself wholly to work for the Master; the chief's took from him his good foreign house and land; they suffered some from want, but I helped them as I could, and when the revival of 1863 spread, he came to reside on this part of the island, where the people were glad to feed and house his family. They have lived in several districts, and everywhere done good; they are now back at their old home and have charge of my old church at Kiti; he will soon be ordained as pastor of that first church on Ponape. He has a large family. The eldest, Karolain, just married to a very promising chief, Enry. They are now in preparation to go on a foreign mission; are engaged this vacation in teaching the school at the capital of the Kiti tribe. We have felt it a privilege to help Narcissus' good family, and have endeavored not to let them ever want. The Doanes, the Logans and Rands have been generous to them, also, some captains of ships. I have not felt that help should come out of your funds, for our home teachers, but may find it best to appropriate a little, if you do not object. A son is now with Mr. Logan, is doing well as a printer, and making himself useful generally. Can earn his own living, as will others of the children.

JEMEJ-(JAMES),

Another of our home preachers of long service, has a large family; some of them promising to be useful as teachers and preachers. He is in charge of one of my largest churches, and very reliable; would have gone abroad, had his wife's health permitted. We help this family some in the way of clothing, though not nearly so much as the other family. They live in the house built by their people, and are well fed by them, and live mostly after their old manner of living, so need but little help.

Julioj—(Julius)

Is a home preacher. Has had charge of the Auak church since Tepit left it for the Mortolocks. He is a chief in his own district, and so needs no help, though he gives much of his time to Christian work.

There are several others employed as teachers and preachers, all of whom we consider as deserving favors, and are glad to show them, such as giving pencils, paper, a book now and then, soap, thread, &c.

TRAINING FOR WORK.

You may wish to know some of our methods of preparing workers,—we plan to train in work, rather than for work. Instead of gathering into one large school, we do more or less training at each of the three stations where American missionaries reside. This is because we can't collect all we would like at one station, also, that our "candidates" may have convenient parishes. We try to keep all suitable ones employed, so try to furnish them with Sunday parishes.

Last year there developed such a desire for district schools where these Sunday parishes had been opened, that I yielded to their urgent requests, and allowed my best pupils to remain through the week to teach schools, intending to call them back at the end of one term, but do not get them back, and may not for some time. The teachers come to me and spend a couple of days at the last of the week for their Sunday teachings, then return to their parishes. Our school at Oua is now simply a district school, run by native teachers. I still give attention to such as are to become teachers and preachers.

There are quite a number from other islands among us for training, and we hope the number will increase by every trip of the Morning Star. There are lands belonging to these, where they cultivate their own food. We trust the self-supporting boarding school is a success. Our great want is lady's help in schools, our wives are not able to do much in our schools, on account of poor health; and we have hosts of promising girls, only waiting the needed help and stimulus, to make first-rate wives and mothers.

Your brother,

A. A. STURGES.

Treasurer's Report of the Hawaiian Mission Children's Society,

FOR THE YEAR ENDING JUNE 15TH, 1878.

RECEIPTS.

| Amount of 12 monthly collections and one annual col |        |        |
|-----------------------------------------------------|--------|--------|
| 1 action S                                          | 274 20 |        |
| Amount received from pledges, as per list           | 226 00 |        |
| Amount received from picages, as per meet,          | $     | 500 20 |
| Amount of twenty-seven life memberships             | 270 00 | 000 -0 |
| Amount of thirty-two annual memberships             | 32 00  |        |
| Amount of tunty-two annual memberships              |        | 302 00 |

CASH CONTRIBUTIONS.

| CASH CONTRIBUTIONS.                                   |            |     |      |    |
|-------------------------------------------------------|------------|-----|------|----|
| OAHU.                                                 | 0          | 00  |      |    |
| Miss Sophle E. Emerson                                | 5          | - 0 |      |    |
| Mrs. J. F. Pogue                                      | 5          |     |      |    |
| Mrs. D. K. Fyfe                                       | 25         |     |      |    |
| J. P. Cooke                                           | 25         |     |      |    |
| W. R. Castle,                                         | 25         |     |      |    |
| H. A. P. Carter                                       | 50         |     |      |    |
| C. J. Lyons.                                          | 20         | 00  |      |    |
| Dr. J. M. Whitney.                                    | 6          | 00  |      |    |
| Miss E. K. Bingham                                    | 5          | 00  |      |    |
| •                                                     |            |     | 168  | 00 |
| HAWAII.                                               |            |     |      |    |
| F. S. Lyman                                           | 27         | 00  |      |    |
| A Friend,                                             | 100        |     |      |    |
| A Friend. Miss E W. Lyons                             | 20         |     |      |    |
| Miss L. F. Ingraham                                   | 12         |     |      |    |
| A Friend                                              | 50         | 00  | 222  |    |
|                                                       |            |     | 209  | 00 |
| MAUI.                                                 |            |     |      |    |
| W. D. Alexander                                       | 10         |     |      |    |
| Mrs. C. B. Andrews and family                         | 16         |     |      |    |
| Miss II. E. Carpenter                                 | 10         |     |      |    |
| William If. Bailey,,,                                 | 25         |     |      |    |
| William E. Rowell                                     | 10         | 00  | 21   | 00 |
|                                                       |            | _   | 71   | 00 |
| KAUAI.                                                |            |     |      |    |
| William H. Rice and family.                           | 20         |     |      |    |
| George N. Wilcox                                      | 100        |     |      |    |
| S. W. Wilcox                                          | 10         | 00  |      | •• |
|                                                       |            |     | 130  | 00 |
| FROM ABROAD.                                          | _          |     |      |    |
| Cousins in Japan                                      |            | 00  |      |    |
| Miss H. F. Coan                                       | 10         |     |      |    |
| Mrs. M. V. Hooker                                     | 10         |     |      |    |
| Miss Salhe B. Small                                   | J          | 00  | 30   | 60 |
| Avail of shells and curios sent from the Mortlocks by |            |     | 00   | 00 |
| Rev. A. A. Sturges                                    |            |     | 135  | 95 |
| Sale of Annual Reports                                |            |     |      | 50 |
|                                                       |            | -   |      |    |
| Actual receipts for the year                          |            |     | 1547 | 25 |
| Balance from last year                                |            |     | 40   | 48 |
|                                                       |            | :   |      |    |
| Total avails for the year                             |            | Ş   | 1587 | 73 |
|                                                       |            | =   |      |    |
| DISBURSEMENTS.                                        |            |     |      |    |
| Pald appropriation for training School on Ebon        | 50         |     |      |    |
| Paid appropriation for Mortlock Mission               | 150        | 00  |      |    |
| Total for Moreign Milesian Milesia                    |            | -   | 200  | 00 |
| Total for Foreign Mission Work                        |            |     | 200  |    |
| Paid for Scholars in Kawaiahao Seminary               | 150        | 00  | 300  | 00 |
| Paid for Scholars in Waialna Seminary                 | 150150 |     |      |    |
| Paid for Scholars in East Maul Female Seminary        | 150        |     |      |    |
| Paid for Scholars in Kohala Female Seminary           | 150        |     |      |    |
| Pald for Scholars in Haleakala Boys' Boarding School  | 238        |     |      |    |
|                                                       |            |     |      |    |
| Total for support of children in schools              |            |     | 833  | 00 |

Paid to Hawaiian Board amount reported wrong from Boston last vear.....

Amount of cash on hand.....

| Paid for printing 500 Annual ReportsPaid for printing 500 Notices of MembershipPaid expenses of copying and circulating Maile WreathPaid postage on Annual Reports | 108 03 541 84 0 | 6080 |    |   |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|----------|----|---|
| Total for incidental expenses                                                                                                                                                  |                             | 157      | 30 |   |
| the request of A. A. Sturges                                                                                                                                                   |                             | 10       | 00 | ) |
| Total expenses for the year                                                                                                                                                    |                             | 1531     | 11 | ĺ |

E. & O. E. WM. W. HALL, Treasurer. Audited and found correct. W. R. CASTLE, Vice-President.

The appropriations made at the beginning of the year have all been paid except the $50 appropriated for the School in the Gilbert Islands. As the school has been given up for the present, the money was not needed.

The amount paid for the support of children in schools has over-run the appropriation some thirtyeight dollars. This is owing to the fact that several of the boys in the Haleakala Boys' School require an entire outfit of clothing.

The incidental expenses over-run the appropriation of seven dollars and thirty cents, on account of the extra expense of copying and circulating the Maile Wreath on the Islands of Hawaii and Maui. hope our cousins on those Islands will remember this fact.

The Permanent Fund now amounts to $745, most of which is drawing interest.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. W. HALL. Treasurer.

25 81

$1587 73

Address of the Retiring President.

During the reign of Decius, the Roman Emperor, a bitter persecution of the Christians arose, and in councetion with it, a certain legend relates that seven young men, while asleep in a cave, where they had hidden, were fastened in, by order of the king. Here they remained in unconsciousness for two hundred years.

Then suddenly waking from their long slumber, what was their surprise to witness the wonderful changes which one night had wrought.

When they fell asleep, Ephesus was a heathen city filled with temples and images.

Now, "above the city gate was a glittering cross. Churches of Christ the crucified, rose where, but yesterday, as they thought were alters of Diana and Apollo.

To them it seemed the work of magic."

We are constantly told of the good old ways and good old days; of the degeneracy of the race, physically, mentally, morally. "There were giants in those days," now what pigmies in comparison. What minds had they, and in morals, how almost infinitely our superiors, Croakers are ever exclaiming, "Your fathers, where are they? And the prophets, do they live forever?"

Standing in the midst of the battle, it is often difficult to say toward which side the victory inclines. Comparing our attainments with those of yesterday, we can see no progress.

Looking at the sin and crime of the world, at the want of real character among men, and the seeming indifference of the great mass of mankind, with reference to the reformation of the world, we are inclined to look on the dark side; to talk of degeneracy and to use the oft repeated expression, "it was not so in the good old times."

Let us imagine these seven men to have fallen asleep at the close of the seventeenth century, and to come forth to-night from the cave in which they have been immured. One hundred and seventy-five years have elapsed, only as one swing of the pendulum, to Him who reckous "a thousand years as one day," but what changes do they behold!

They call to mind the great fact that in their day the Jesuits were straining every nerve in their efforts to Christianize the world, and were the controlling religious power. During their lives, great apparent progress had been made by this sect in China and Japan, and in the latter, the indications were that the religion of the entire country would be changed. The Emperor, however, becoming alarmed because of this interference, instituted one of the most bitter and relentless persecutions the world has ever witnessed. He persisted until the missionaries were banished, and Christianity was utterly overthrown.

From that day until a very recent period, Japan has been closed to the entire world.

They remember also that it was during the seventeenth century, the Catholic religion was propagated in Portuguese and Spanish America.

The "thirty years war" had been occasioned by a desire on the part of the Romanists to overthrow and destroy the Protestant Churches of Europe. For a time it seemed as if what was attempted would be accomplished, but by the interference of Gustave Adolphus, Rome was defeated of her object. "Meanwhile, the Romanists were harassing and persecuting the Protestants whenever they had the power. The Hungarians, the Poles, the poor Albegenses and Waldenses, and the Protestants of France—all were the objects of cruel and relentless persecution."

The expulsion of the Moors from Granada by Ferdinand was another step looking to the advancement of Rome. Strenuous efforts were made to bring England under her power, but without avail.

It was, however, during this century that the revolution occurred, resulting in the overthrow of Cromwell and the house of Stuarts, and in the first establishment of the House of Hanover. America, at this time, was the little infant—a willing dependent upon the mother country. Her colonies lay along the Atlantic Coast, and the great expanse of country in the then far, far West was almost a "terra incognita."

These Islands, then teeming with population, were undiscovered.

This, in brief, was the condition of things when our "seven sleepers" left the world active, and entered their long repose.

Doubtless it seemed to them that much had been accomplished during the century in which they lived; but often their feeling must have been that they were in a very wicked world, and that instead of progress there was retrogression.

While they slumber, the eighteenth century passes. Let us glance at the changes which these years wrought.

England, under her free constitution, came to the front as one of the great powers, and has continued to hold a proud place among the nations of the earth.

During this century her "trade, industry, navigation and prosperity received an immense development."

Charles XII. of Sweden, and Peter the Great of Russia, now appear upon the stage of action.

The mere mention of their names calls to mind the events which transpired, and the condition of the countries which they represented.

Prussia, under the wise, prudent and energetic Frederick, "rose to ever increasing power and prosperity." His frugality tended to keep her treasury well supplied, and his personal supervision of all departments of government aided much in correcting abuses and punishing the dishonest.

In America the contest between the French and Indians on the one side, and the English on the other, resulted in the complete success of the latter. Then followed the struggle with the mother country, and though the infant—now grown to childhood—was victorious, she was left broken, poor and exhausted, but with a courage and determination which a heavy debt, a ruined credit, and a paralyzed commerce could not destroy.

In November, 1799, the French Revolution resulted in Napoleon Bonaparte's taking the management of affairs into his own hands.

During the latter half of this century, it is said of Germany, that literature, poetry, science and the entire spiritual life received a mighty impulse, and created a degree of refinement such as has been scarcely equaled in modern history.

In July, 1773, by a decree of Clement XIV. the society of Jesuits was abolished, and they were compelled to leave Catholic Europe and seek refuge in the various Protestant countries. Thus utterly crushed, it seems strange to us, that the almost lifeless body should have been resuscitated by the Protestant powers of Europe, Russia, Prussia and England.

With the overthrow of Rome's power came the infidelity which swept over France through the influence of Voltaire D. Alembert and Rousseau.

"The contagion flew to other countries, and all Europe was convulsed." The writings of Tom Paine, Hume and others had their influence upon the religious world.

A revival of religion under the preaching of Edwards, Whitefield, the Wesleys and others, resulted in great good in New England, Old England and Scotland,—thousands being brought under its saving influence.

That the eighteenth century had in it much of evil, it would be idle to deny; but that there were powerful forces at work which were to result in the elevation of the natious in material and spiritual interests, let the present century testify.

Time would utterly fail us to even mention the many political changes which these seventy-five years have wrought.

Let your mind, for a moment, revert to France, under Napoleon, recall the fierce struggle with England, the Peninsular War, the invasion of Prussia, the German War of liberation and the final overthrow of this wonderful man. Meanwhile, America had been engaged in conflict with England and Spain. Portugal and Italy also seek a constitutional form of government. Greece, for nearly four hundred years, under the galling yoke of Turkey, achieves her independence. Then followed the Revolution of 1848, in France; the proclamation of a Hungary Republic, with Kossuth as leader; and the Seven Weeks War, in which Bismarck is the leading spirit.

The Civil War in America resulted in the liberation of those who had been so long held in bondage, and in the restoration of the Union.

The events in connection with this struggle, its termination and the outcome; the conflict in Mexico; the Franco-Prussian War, by which, in ten months, one empire had fallen; and another, of different material, and organized on wholly different principles, had arisen; the Turko-Russian War, the final result of which can only be predicted, are fresh in every mind.

Think you, if our "seven sleepers" could now rise before us, and on the instant take in the political changes that have been going on among the nations, could see the regions then undiscovered, but now known; the increased facilities for travel; for communication by mail and telegraph; the advancement in all departments of science and literature; the enlightenment of the mass through the press and opportunities for education; the ease with which labor can be performed through inventive genius; the wonderful increase in manufactures and commerce; the facilities for carrying on war on land and sea; the giving up of treasures hidden in the earth—think you, they could witness all this and not feel that much had been done in the one night of their slumber, for the elevation of the race?

But these were Christian men, and surely one of the first, if not the first question, would be that of Christianity.

How would their hearts leap for joy, when we should say to them, "the two great things for which our age, in a religious view, is distinguished, are revivals of religion and the spread of the gospel."

Perhaps this society will be encouraged and stimulated by glancing at the work of our century in the efforts made to Christianize the world.

The first concentrated effort for the dissemination of the Scriptures was in 1804, when the "British and Foreign Bible Society" was formed.

It was brought about by the great destitution which existed in Wales, and a seemingly trifling incident is said to have called special attention to it.

The pastor of one of the churches meeting a little girl of his congregation, inquired if she could repeat the text of the previous Sabbath.

Her answer revealed the fact that she was wont to travel seven miles every week, over the hills, to read a Welsh Bible. This was in 1802, and in 1804, Rev. Thomas Charles went to London, and before a committee, spoke of his strong desire for a new edition of the Welsh Bible. "Certainly," said Rev. Joseph Hughes, "and if for Wales, why not for the world?" Upon this suggestion they acted, and the society was formed.

Up to this time there had been great destitution of the Bible throughout the world.

It had only been printed in forty-seven languages and dialects.

Since that time, more than one hundred millions of copies have been issued, and in two hundred languages and dialects.

The cost of a copy had placed it beyond the reach of all but the most wealthy.

"Before the invention of printing, the Bible was the most expensive book in the world, costing in England, in the 13th century, $150. At the time of the American Revolution, the cheapest Bibles were valued at two dollars a volume. From 1843-53, the American Bible Society sold its nonpareil Bible, without references, at twenty-five cents a copy; and the pocket pearl Testament for six and a quarter cents."

Societies, similar to the one formed in London, sprang up in different countries of Europe, and in 1816 the "American Bible Society" was organized.

It was not until the dawn of the nineteenth century that the Christian Church awoke to the idea of the conversion of the entire world to Christ.

The movement in England was the result of efforts made by Wm. Carey, a shoemaker, who gave himself to the work, though laughed at as an enthusiast, and though "literature and wit, in the person of Sidney Smith, ridiculed the cobbler and scoffed at the undertaking."

Landing in India, 1793, he became an eager student of the oriental languages, and before his death in 1834, saw in forty different dialects, the means of conveying Christian truth to as many tribes.

Soon after Carey's departure, societies were formed in England, and France, Germany, Switzerland, Norway and Sweden are, to day, among the countries that have missionary organizatious, and are doing earnest, faithful work.

In America, the movement seems to have started from a boy hearing his mother say that she had given him to God for missionary work.

Mills enters Williams College. While he muses, the fire burns; and committing his thoughts and desires to companions, they become engaged; and these young men are often found together consulting with reference to the possibility and feasibility of going to heathen lands as missionaries.

"Here," says Dr. Hopkins, "were five young men from the two lower classes in an infant college, in a place so secluded, that no mail, from any direction, reaches it oftener than once a week. They are seated by a hay-stack. Dark clouds are above them, but they heed not these, nor the quick flash of the lightning, nor the thunder echoing from the mountains. They were speaking of the "moral darkness of Asia;" they say they can do it; they kneel together in prayer, and as they pray, the heavens grow brighter, and the dark clouds roll away."

Plans were perfected by students in the Andover Theological Seminary, and in 1809, were presented to the General Association of Massachusetts. The project was looked upon with favor, and in the following year the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions was organized.

Only think of it, there are persons now living who can remember when this society came into existence. At the first annual meeting, but five were present; at the second, seven. Its receipts for the year were one thousand dollars.

How unlike the present state of things. Let those witness, who have attended one of the more recent gatherings, or those call to mind who read of the meeting last year, of the holy enthusiasm that came upon them in their effort to raise the amount still due on the $500,000, which the depressed condition of the country had made it seem impossible to procure.

And what to day is the missionary field? Beginning at Japan, let us take a voyage around the world and observe.

This is one of the most recent fields opened to missionary effort, but what a change has a few years wrought! Since her experience in the seventeenth century, her doors have, until within a few years, been closed.

To-day, not less than thirty missionaries are employed and the results are exceedingly gratifying and encouraging. China, by her exclusiveness, greatly hindered the missionaries; but in 1861, restrictions were removed, and the interior of this vast country is yielding to the blessed influence of the gospel.

A striking illustration of the power of missions in China is found in the fact, "that the Chinese in some places are resorting to preaching, to meet and oppose the progress of Christian truth, defending idolatry by public sermons in halls and temples."

Moravian missionaries are at work in Thibet, Siam and Assam; the Islands of Sumatra, Borneo, Celebes, and the Moluccas, are feeling the power of Christian effort. Burmah, the scene of Judson's labors, has 372 churches, 20,000 members, 60,000 adherents, and 6000 children in schools.

Of India, with a population of 240,000,000, Chunder Sen, an educated Hindoo, is reported to have said: "The spirit of Christianity has pervaded the whole of Indian society, and we breathe, think, feel and move in a Christian atmosphere."

English missionaries are laboring among the natives of Australia and Mauritius.

The Nestorians of Persia, the Mohammedans of the Turkish Empire, and the inhabitants of Syria, have heard the gospel, and feel the beneficial influences of the Christian religion. In 1830, Greece was entered as a missionary field, and the name of Dr. King will never be forgotten.

In Africa, with its 200,000,000, we find stations in Egypt, Abyssinia and Zanzibar. In Southern Africa, not less than twenty societies are represented.

Upon the western coast, between Gaboon and Sierra Leone, there are said to be 20,000 children in schools, and as many members in Christian churches.

The present indications are, that the researches of Livingstone and Stanley will open the way for more extended effort in that great country.

Madagascar, with a population of 5,000,000, has shown changes and results scarcely equaled in any other mission field.

Italy, Spain and Austria are feeling the influence of our Protestant missionaries.

Labors among the Indians in America have not been without their good results.

The Moravians have agents in Greenland and Labrador, and both American and English missionaries have labored among the blacks of the West Indies. Mexico has felt the influence of a few zealous Protestants, as have Colombia, Chili and Brazil, in South America.

These far off islands of the sea have not been neglected. Of the work here I need not speak, but in passing would say that we, perhaps, greatly under-estimate the real good done, by contrasting what the people are, with our ideal of Christianity; rather than by what they are in contrast with what they were when the missionaries first stepped upon these shores.

It seems almost incredible that so much has been accomplished in so short a time, with so small expenditure, and so few real laborers.

With such facts before us, we are led to exclaim: "What has God wrought?" What are we to expect in the future? Do we rightly read the signs of the times?

We have the promise that "the knowledge of the Lord shall fill the earth, as the waters fill the channels of the deep; and that the kingdom and dominion and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High."

How glorious the work in which we, as a society, are engaged? May we be faithful to our trust. Doing all we can, let us leave the management and results with the Great Ruler of all.

"This world is too big a ship for us to guide. I know from the way she swings from starboard to larboard that there is a strong Hand at the helm."

Be patient. God's clock strikes but once or twice in a thousand years, but the wheels all the time keep turning. Over the caravansary of Bethlehem with silver tongue it struck one. Over the University of Erfurt, Luther heard it strike nine. In the rockings of the present century it has sounded eleven. Thank God, it will strike twelve.

Constitution and By-Laws of the Hawaiian Mission Children's Society.

PREAMBLE.

WE, the Children of the American Protestant Mission to the Hawaiian Islands, desiring to promote the cause of Gospel Missions, as well as to strengthen the bond of union that naturally exists amongst us, do hereby organize ourselves into a Social Missionary Society, under the following Constitution and By-Laws:

CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE 1. This Society shall be called "THE HA-WALLAN MISSION CHILDREN'S SOCIETY."

ART. 2. The design of this Society is to cherish and promote union among its members, to cultivate in them an active missionary spirit, to stir them up to good works, and more especially to assist in the support of Christian Missions.

ART. 3. The Officers of the Society shall be a President, Vice-President, Recording Secretary, a Home, and a Foreign Corresponding Secretary, and Treasurer, all of whom shall be elected by ballot at the Annual Meeting of the Society, to hold office for one year. All members of the Society are eligible to any of these offices.

ART. 4. No one is eligible to fill the office of President for two consecutive years.

ART. 5. At each Annual Meeting of the Society. two members shall be chosen by ballot, who, together with the officers mentioned in Article 3, and such members as may be chosen by the Auxiliary Societies in accordance with Article 9, shall constitute a Board of Managers, and who shall hold office for one year.

ART. 6. Any descendant of those who are, or have been members of the American Protestant Mission to these Islands, and the descendants of all those admitted into the Society in accordance with Article 7, are entitled to join the Society by paying into the Treasury the sum of one dollar annually, which shall constitute, one an Annual Member, or paying at any one time the sum of ten dollars, which shall constitute one a Life Member.

Any person not included in the 6th Article may be permitted to join the Society upon the same terms with those who are, by the consent of the Board of Managers, approved by a two-third vote of the members present at any regular meeting of the Society.

ART. 8. Any number of Life Members, resident elsewhere than in Honolulu, pledging not less than $25 annually to the Treasury of this Society, may form an "Auxiliary," (to consist of Annual and Life Members of the Society), by the appointment of such officers, and the making of such regulations as they may wish, provided, however, all be done in conformity with Article 2nd of the Constitution.

Any Auxiliary Society, pledging not less than $100 per annum, shall be entitled to elect annually one member of the Board of Managers of the Parent Society, to hold office one year from its Annual Meeting.

ART. 10. Any person may be admitted as an Honorary Member of the Society by consent of a majority of the Board of Managers, approved by a two-thirds vote of the members present at any regular meeting of the Society.

ART. 11. Any member may appeal from any action of the Board of Managers to the Society, at any regular meeting. If the appeal is seconded, such action may be reversed by a majority vote of the members present.

ART. 12. The Society shall hold a regular meeting on such a Saturday evening of each month as it may approve, and an Annual Meeting in May or June.

ART. 13. Each member shall receive a certificate of membership in the following form, to be signed by the President and countersigned by the Treasurer:

| is not easilyor, xiii; 4, 5.                                            | Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brothers to dwell together in unity.—Ps. cxxiii: 1.  This may Certify that | One generalbut the                                                  |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Charity suffereth long and is kind; is provoked, and thinketh no evil,—Con. | Having paid the sum of                                                                                                | tion passeth away and another cometh earth abideth forever.—Eccl. i: 5. |

ART. 14. Alterations in, or additions to this Constitution may be made at the Annual Meeting, by a vote of three-fourths of the members present, such alterations or additions having been handed in, in writing, at the previous meeting by the Board of Managers or any member of the Society.

BY-LAWS.

ARTICLE 1 .- OF THE OFFICERS.

Section 1. The President shall preside over the meetings of the Society; deliver an address before the Society at its Annual Meeting, upon vacating his office; appoint all committees not otherwise provided for; sign all certificates of membership; arrange the programme of exercises of each regular meeting, consulting with the Chairman of the various committees; and he may convene the Society to Special Meeting at his discretion. He shall also be "ex officio" President of the Board of Managers.

SEC. 2. The Vice-Persident shall audit the Annual Report of the Treasurer, and perform all the duties of the President in case of his absence.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of the Recording Secretary to keep a record of the proceedings of the Society at its several meetings, and make out an abstract report of the proceedings of the Society, during his term of office, at its Annual Meeting. He shall also be "ex officio" Secretary of the Board of Managers; and shall furnish the Treasurer with a certified copy of every order on the Treasury authorized by the Board.

Sec. 4. The Corresponding Secretaries shall carry on the correspondence of the Society at home and abroad; take charge of the books and papers of the Society; excepting the files of the Maile Wreath, and report at its Annual Meeting.

SEC. 5. The Treasurer shall receive and safely keep all moneys belonging to the Society; pay over such moneys as may be directed from time to time by the Board of Managers, for the purpose of defraying such expenses as shall have been incurred by their order, such order having the signature of the Recording Secretary; shall countersign all certificates of membership; and shall, at the Annual Meeting of the Society, present an accurate statement of the receipts and disbursements of the Society during the year.

ARTICLE II .- OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

Section 1. It shall be the duty of the Board of Managers to superintend all business transactions of the Society, not otherwise provided for in the Constitution, and to keep full and correct minutes of all its own proceedings.

- SEC. 2. Any member of the Society desiring to bring any business before the Board of Managers, shall make known such business in a written application to some member of the Board, who shall lay it before the Board, for their action thereon.
- SEC. 3. The Board shall decide upon all applications for membership under Articles 7 and 10 of the Constitution, and also upon the disposition of the funds of the Society.
- SEC. 4. The minutes of the Board shall be read before the Society, at each regular meeting, for acceptance and adoption.
- SEC. 5. Any vacancies occurring in the Board of Managers, by death or otherwise, shall be refilled by regular election of the Society, at the earliest succeeding meeting.
- Sec. 6. The regular meetings of the Board shall be held at such time as the Board may determine, within seven days immediately preceding the regular meeting of the Society. The Secretary of the Board shall note the members present at each.
- SEC. 7. Special meetings of the Board may be called by the President at his discretion, or by three members thereof.
- Sec. 8. A majority of the members resident in Honolulu shall constitute a working quorum of the Board.

ARTICLE III.

The members of the Society are expected to attend the regular meetings of the Society, as far as may be possible; to perform all such duties as may, from time to time, be assigned to them; to collect all information that may be useful or interesting to the Society, and at each regular meeting contribute to the funds of tho Society, according to their generosity and means.

ARTICLE IV.

The regular monthly meeting of the Society shall be opened by prayer and singing; the minutes of the last meeting shall be read by the Recording Secretary; the minutes of the Board of Managers shall then be read and acted upon; a collection shall be taken up by the Treasurer; the entertainment provided for in Article 5 shall then be in order; next shall follow miscellaneous business; after which the meeting shall be closed by singing.

The monthly meetings of the Society shall be open to such guests as any of the members may invite as being in sympathy with the Society and its objects.

ARTICLE V.

There shall be a Committee of Three on music, who shall be chosen quarterly, to aid in providing for the profitable entertainment of each monthly meeting.

There shall be a Committee of Four, consisting of two ladies and two gentlemen, to be elected every four months, to conduct a monthly paper, the purpose of which shall be to develop more fully the intellectual resources of the Society, and add to the missionary interest of each monthly meeting.

There shall be a Committee of Two, to be appointed annually, whose duty it shall be to take the Maile Wreaths, after they are read, and attend to their circulation over the islands, and subsequently to binding them in proper form, and be responsible for their safe keeping.

ARTICLE VI .- RULES OF ORDER.

SECTION 1. In miscellaneous business, no one shall speak more than five minutes at a time without permission from the Society.

SEC. 2. In all other points of order, the Presiding Officer shall be guided by the rules laid down in Cushing's Manual.

ARTICLE VII.

These By-Laws may be altered or annulled by a vote of two-thirds of the members present at any regular meeting, notice of each amendment having been given at the meeting next preceding.

HONORARY MEMBERS.

NOT OF THE HAWAIIAN MISSION.

Rev. James R. Boyd, D. D. Geneva New York

| Mrs. James R. Boyd, D. D. Mrs. James R. Boyd, | Geneva, New York.        |
|-----------------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| Rev. E. T. Doane,                             | Bonne Terre, Missouri.   |
| Mrs. Sarah W. Doane,*                         | Donne Terre, Missouri.   |
| Mrs. Clara S. Doane.                          | Batavia, Illinois.       |
| Rev. Dr. William Goodell,*                    | ,,                       |
| Rev. R. W. Logan,                             | Ponape, Caroline Islands |
| Mrs. Mary E. Logan,                           |                          |
| Rev. E. M. Pease, M. D.,                      | Ebon, Marshall Islands.  |
| Mrs. E. M. Pease,                             | " "                      |
| Rev. G. Pierson,                              | Solomon City, Kansas.    |
| Mrs. N. A. Pierson,                           |                          |
| Mr. Frank Rand,                               | Ponape, Caroline Islands |
| Mrs. Carrie E. Rand,                          | " " "                    |
| Rev. A. A. Sturges,                           | " " "                    |
| Mrs. Susan M. Sturges,                        | " " "                    |
| Rev. B. G. Snow,                              | Robbinston, Maine.       |
| Mrs. Lydia W. Snow,                           |                          |
| Rev. H. Taylor,                               | Athens, Alabama.         |
| Mrs. Julia A. Taylor,*                        | 771 35 1 11 7 1 1        |
| Rev. Joel F. Whitney,                         | Ebon, Marshall Islands.  |
| Mrs. Louise M. Whitney,                       | Handele Ocho             |
| Mrs. T. W. Knight,                            | Honolulu, Oahu.          |
| LIFE M                                        | EMBERS.                  |
| Adams. Anna H.†                               | Boston, Massachusetts.   |
| Aea, Hezekiah                                 | Honolulu, Oahu.          |
| Aea, Rachael*                                 |                          |
| Alexander, W. D.                              | Traveling in Europe.     |
| Alexander, Mrs. A. (Baldwin)                  | Makawao, Maui.           |
| Alexander, W. D., jr.                         | "———"                    |
| Alexander, Arthur C.                          | " "                      |
| Alexander, Henry E. M.                        | "                        |
| Alexander, Mary C.                            | "                        |
| Alexander Agnes Roldwin                       | "                        |

Haiku,

Alexander, Agnes Baldwin Alexander, Rev. James M.

Alexander, Mrs. M. (Webster) "

&quot;Deceased. | Member of Ladies' Society of Essex St. Church, Boston.

Haiku, Maui. Alexander, Frank A. Alexander, Mary Edith Alexander, Samuel T. Traveling in Europe. Alexander, Mrs. M. (Cooke) Haiku, Maui. Alexander, Juliette Honolulu, Oahu. Alexander, Annie Haiku, Maui, Alexander, W. McKinney Alexander, Henry M. Makawao, Maui. Alexander, Mary J. Haiku, Maui. Alexander, Charles H. Alexander, Lottie E. San Francisco, Cal. Andrews, Lorrin, jr.* Andrews, Robert W. Kau, Hawaii. Andrews, Samuel Waialua, Oahu. Andrews, William Jersey City, N. J. Andrews, Mrs. A. (Oscanyan) Ann Arbor, Michigan. Andrews, Samuel C. Andrews, Lucy C. Andrews, Fanny P. M. Holyoke Seminary, Mass. Andrews, Lorrin A. Makawao, Maui. Elmira College, N. Y. Andrews, Luella Lee Andrews, Florence N. Andrews, Dr. George P. Med. College, Detroit, Mich. Armstrong, William N. Hampton, Virginia. Armstrong, Mrs. M. F. (Morgan) 66 " Armstrong, Matthew C. Armstrong, Richard 66 Armstrong, Gen. Sam'l C.

Armstrong, Edith
Armstrong, Mary J. G.
Armstroug, Amelia
Arundel, John T.

Armstrong, Louisa H.

Armstrong, Mrs. Emma (Walker)

Atherton, Joseph B. Atherton, Mrs. J. (Cooke) San Francisco, Cal. New York City.

"

66

Traveling. Kawaiahao Seminary.

Honolulu, Oahu.

Aswan, Haina

*Deceased.

| Atherton, Charles H.                           | Honolulu,   | Oahu.   |
|------------------------------------------------|-------------|---------|
| Atherton, Mary Cushing                         | 66          | 6.6     |
| Atherton, Benjamin H.                          | • 66        | 66      |
| Atherton, Alexander M.                         | 66          | 66      |
| Atherton. Caroline F.                          | - "         | "       |
| Atwater, William                               | Lahaina, M  | Iaui.   |
| Atwater, WilliamAtwater, Mrs. E. (Baldwin) | 68          | 66      |
| Austin, Stafford L.                            | Onomea, H   | awaii.  |
| Austin, Mrs. C. H. (Clark)                     | "           | "       |
| Austin, Franklin H.                            | Traveling.  |         |
| Austin, Herbert O.                             | Buffalo, Ne | w York. |
| Austin, Benjamin H.                            | Punahou C   |         |
|                                                |             |         |
| Banning, Fritz                                 | Honolulu,   | Oahu.   |
| Banning, Mrs. C. (Armstrong)                   |             | 64      |
| Banning, Richard Armstrong                     |             |         |
| Bailey, Edward H.                              | Kahului, M  |         |
| Bailey, Horatio B.                             | Makawao,    | "       |
| Bailey, W. H.                                  | Wailuku.    | 66      |
| Bailey, Mrs. Annie (Hobron)                    | "           | "       |
| Bailey, Minnie Hobron                          | 66          | "       |
| Bailey, Wm. H. jr.                             | 66          | 66      |
| Bailey, James C.                               | 66          | 66      |
| Bailey, Charles A.                             | 66          | 66      |
|                                                |             |         |
| Baldwin, D. Dwight                             | Honolulu,   | Oahu.   |
| Baldwin, Mrs. L. (Morris)                      | "           | 66      |
| Baldwin, Lilian C.                             | Clinton, N  | . Y.    |
| Baldwin, Erdmann D.                            | Honolulu,   |         |
| Baldwin, Charles W.                            | "           | "       |
| Baldwin, Lincoln Mansfield                     | "           | 66      |
| Baldwin, Winnifred Morris                      | "           | "       |
| Baldwin, Benjamin D.                           | "           | 66      |
| Baldwin, William A. Baldwin, Mary Elizabeth    | "           |         |
| Baldwin, Mary Elizabeth                        | 66          | 66      |
| Baldwin, Nathaniel H.                          | "           | 66      |
| Baldwin, Charles F.                            | Makawao,    | Maui.   |
| Baldwin, Henry P.                              | 46          | 66      |
| Baldwin, Mrs. E. (Alexander                    | ) "         | 66      |
| Baldwin, Henry A.                              | 66          | 66      |
| *Deceased.                                     |             |         |

Baldwin, Maud M. Baldwin, William D.

Baldwin, Samuel E* Baldwin, Willie Dane

Bartlett, George L. Beardsley, Grove S., M. D. Beckwith, Rev. E. G. Beckwith, Mrs. C. P. (Armstrong) Beckwith, Frank A. Beckwith, C. Amelia Beckwith, George E. Beckwith, Mrs. H. (Goodale) Bean, Lydia Shipley Benfield, Marcus* Benfield, Mrs. M. (Thurston) Honolulu, Oahu. Benfield, Eric Lex*

Benfield, Lillie Benfield, Clara Benfield, Ida*

Bicknell, Mrs. Ellen (Bond) Bicknell, James jr. Bindt, Mrs. L. (Johnson) Bindt, Julia Lois Bindt, Bertha Francis Bindt, Paul R. Bingham, Rev. Hiram Bingham, Mrs. C. (Brewster) Bingham, Hiram 3rd. Bingham, Elizabeth K.

Bishop, Rev. Sereno E. Bishop, Mrs. C. (Sessions) Bishop, Edward F.* Bishop, John Sessions Bishop, Elizabeth Delia Bissell, Rev. E. C.

Bissell. Mrs. E. C. Bond, George S. Bond, E. Cornelius Bond, T. Spencer Bond, William Lee Makawao, Maui.

West Groton, New York.

Charlestown, Mass. U. S. N., Cruising. Waterbury, Coun.

Yale College, Conn. Waterbury, Haiku, Maui.

West Branch, Iowa.

66

Waipio, Hawaii. Koloa, Kauai.

66 66 Honolulu, Oahu.

66

Kawaiahao Sem, Honolulu. Honolulu, Oahu.

Berkley, California. Honolulu, Oahu. Missionary, Innsbruck, Tyrol.

Kohala, Hawaii. 66 66 66

Yale College, Conn.

&quot;Deceased.

| Bond, Benjamin D. Bond, Caroline S. Bond, Abbie Steele Bond, Julia P. Boyd, Elizabeth Scott Brewer, Prof. Fisk B. Brewer, Mrs. J. (Richards) Brewer, Helen R. Brewer, Mary E. Brewer, Grace Lyman Brown, Louisa J.† | Exeter, N. H. Auburndale, Mass.  Kohala, Hawaii. Honolulu, Oahu. Beloit, Wisconsin.      |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Campbell, Lizzie C. Carpenter, Helen E. Carter, H. A. P. Carter, Mrs. S. A. (Judd) Carter, Frances Isabel Carter, Charles L. Carter, George R. Carter, Agnes Carter, Sibyl Augusta* Carter, Cordelia Judd           | Honolulu, Oahu, East Maui Seminary. Honolulu, Oahu.  """" """""" """""" """""""""""""""" |
| Carter, Charlotte A. Carter, Mary N. Carter, Rachel A. Carter, Joseph O., jr. Carter, Sarah M. Castle, C. Alfred*                                                                                                   | 66 6666 6666 6666 66                                                         |
| Castle, Mrs. C. E. (Coleman) Castle, Mary Eloise Castle, H. Ethelwin Alfred Castle, William R. Castle, Mrs. Ida (Lowrey) Castle, George P. Castle, James B.                                                         | " " " " " " Oberlin, Ohio,                                                               |
| Castle, Caroline D. Castle, Helen K. Castle, Henry N. Chamberlain, Warren Chamberlain, Mrs. C. (Wright                                                                                                              |                                                                                          |

Deceased. |Member of Ladies' Society of Essex St. Church, Boston.

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Chamberlain, Allie M.*Chamberlain, Henry H.Chamberlain, Helen S.Chamberlain, Horace W.Chamberlain, Wm. W.                                                                                                                        | Granby, Mass.Honolulu, Oahu.""""                                                                                                            |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Chamberlain, J. EvartsChamberlain, Martha A.                                                                                                                                                                                                 | " "                                                                                                                                                 |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Chamberlain, Rev. J. P. Chamberlain, Mrs. H, (Light body) Chamberlain, John Evarts Chamberlain, Helen Maria                                                                                                                                      | Bloomer, Wisconsin,                                                                                                                                 |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Chamberlain, Helen Maria Chamberlain, Levi Chapin, Elizabeth D. Church, E. P. Church, Mrs. F. L. Clark, Alvah K. Clark, Mrs. H. E.* Clark, Mary H.* Clark, Arthur M.*                                                                            | Honolulu, Oahu.Winchester, Mass.Greenville, Michigan                                                                                        |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Clark, Charles K.Clark, Mrs. H. (Howell)Clark, Fred. Howell                                                                                                                                                                              | Oakland, Cal.                                                                                                                                       |
| Name and Address of the Owner, where the Owner, which is the Owner, where the Owner, which is the Owner | Clark, Albert B., D. D. S.Clark. Mrs. Susie, (Hamlin)Clark, Prof. Wm. S.Clark, Mrs. H. (Richards)                                                                                                                                    | Chicago, Illinois,  "" Amherst, Mass.                                                                                                               |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Coan, T. Munson M. D. Coan, Harriet F. Coan, Sarah E. Coan, Latimer Coan, Mrs. L. (Bingham) Colcord, Charles A. Colcord, Grace A. Coleman, Charles C. Coleman, Mrs. Hattie (Castle) Coleman, Charles A. C. Conde, Rev. Samuel Lee Conde, Paulina | New York City. Auburn, New York. New York City. Hilo, Hawaii "" Wailuku, Maui. Searsport, Maine. Hilo, Hawaii. "" "" Troy, Penn. Chicago, Illinois. |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                     |

&quot;Deceased.

Conda Charles

Philadelphia Penn

| Conde, CharlesConde, Henry                       | Indianapolis, Ind.            |
|------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Conde, Lucy                                          | Beloit, Wisconsin.            |
| Conde, Mary*                                         |                               |
| Cooke, Joseph P.                                     | Honolulu, Oahu.               |
| Cooke, Mrs. E. (Wilder)Cooke, Joseph P., Jr.     | "                             |
| Cooke, Grace M.                                      | "                             |
| Cooke, William Gardiner                              |                               |
| Cooke, Mary A                                        | Singing in the United States. |
| Cooke, Charles M.                                    | Traveling.                    |
| Cooke, Mrs. Anna C. (Rice)Cooke, Charles M., Jr. | "                             |
| Cooke, Clarence H.                                   | "                             |
| Cooke, A. Frank                                      | Honolulu, Oahu.               |
| Cooke, Clarence W.                                   | Table and the Tilling is      |
| Corwin, John HowardCorwin, C. Sophia             | Jacksonville, Illinois.       |
| Corwin, Charles A.                                   | 66                            |
| Corwin, Cecil S.                                     | 66 66                         |
| Corwin, Arthur Mills Crocker, Lillie Mosely          | Union City, Michigan.         |
| Cummings, Mrs. L. (Eckley)                           | San Francisco, California.    |
| Damon, Samuel M.                                     | Honolulu, Oahu.               |
| Damon, Mrs, H. (Baldwin)                             | 66 66                         |
| Damon, Samuel Ed.                                    | 66 66                         |
| Damon, May Mills                                     | " "                           |
| Damon, Edward C.Damon. Francis W.                | Traveling in Europe.          |
| Damon, Win. F.                                       | Honolulu, Oahu,               |
| Dibble, Seymour H.                                   | Washington, D. C.             |
| Dickson, Joshna G.                                   | Honolulu, Oahu.               |
| Dickson, Mrs. L. (Judd)Dickson, Sarah C.         | "                             |
| Dickson, Hessie Judd                                 | 66 66                         |
| Dickson, Laura F.                                    | " "                           |
| Dickson, Helen A.                                    |                               |
| Dickson, Hester L.                                   | 46 68                         |
| *Deceased.                                           |                               |

|   | Dickson, Mrs. B. (Holden)                     | Hilo, Hawaii.              |
|---|-----------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
|   | Dickson, Joshua Bates                         | "                          |
| 1 | Dickson, Mrs. S. (Conde)                      | Indianapolis, Ind.         |
|   | Dickey, Mrs. A.(Alexander)                    | Haiku, Maui.               |
|   | Dillingham, Benjamin F.                       | Honolulu, Oahu.            |
|   | Dillingham, Mrs. E. (Smith)                   | " "                        |
|   | Dillingham, Mary Emma                         | "                          |
|   | Dillingham, Charles A.*                       |                            |
|   | Dillingham, Walter F.                         | " "                        |
|   | Dillingham, Frank T.                          |                            |
|   | Dimond, W. H.                                 | San Francisco, California. |
|   | Dimond, Mrs. E. (Waterhous                    |                            |
|   | Dimond, William, W.                           | Honolulu, Oahu,            |
|   | Dimond, Mrs. Nellie (Gray)                    | San Francisco, California. |
|   | Dimond, Edwin R. Dimond, Eleanor Sophia       | 6 66                       |
|   | Dimond, Mary Gray                             | 266 66                     |
|   |                                               | a                          |
|   | Dimond, Edwin Hall                            | China.                     |
|   | Dole, George H.                               | Kanai.                     |
|   | Dole, Mrs. Clara (Rowell)                     | 66                         |
|   | Dole, Walter SanfordDole, William Herbert | 66                         |
|   | Dole, Marion Foster                           | "                          |
|   | Dole, Clara Maria                             | "                          |
|   | · ·                                           | TT 11 01                   |
|   | Dole, Sanford B.                              | Honolulu, Oahu.            |
|   | Dole, Mrs. Anna P. (Cate)                     | Traveling.                 |
|   | Dole, Mary                                    | Hallowell, Maine.          |
|   | Doane, Edward W.                              | Bonne Terre, Missouri.     |
|   | 711 1 35 35 (77 )                             | a F : alic :               |
|   | Edwards, Mrs, Mary (Haven)                    |                            |
|   | Eells, Nellie                                 | Oakland, "                 |
|   | Eells, James, jr.Eells, Emma L. A.        | "                          |
|   |                                               | c) 1 1 011                 |
|   | Eells, Howard P.                              | Cleveland, Ohio.           |
|   | Eells, Emma P.                                | " "                        |
|   | Eells, Stillman M.                            |                            |
|   | Ellis, Frances E.†                            | Boston, Mass.              |
|   | Ellis, Hattie*                                |                            |
|   | Emerson, Samuel N.                            | Waialua, Oahu.             |
|   |                                               |                            |

*Deceased. †Member of Lanies' Society of Essex St. Church, Boston.

Emerson, Nathaniel, M. D. New York City. Emerson, Justin E., M. D. Traveling in Europe. Emerson, Mrs. Williemena H.

(Eliot) Emerson, Joseph S. Emerson, Rev. Oliver P. Emerson, Sophia E.

Flaxman, Margaret Forbes, Rev. Anderson O. Forbes, Mrs. M. (Chamberlain) Forbes, Maria R.

Forbes, Harriet G. Forbes, Agnes Boyd Forbes, Major William T. Forbes, Lieut. Theodore F.

Frear, Rev. Walter Frear, Mrs. T. E.

Forbes, William J.

Frear, Lizzie Frear, Hugo P. Frear, Walter F. Frear, Henrietta

Frear, Phillip F. Fuller, Robert M. Fuller, Ellen E.

Fyfe, Mrs. J. (Johnson)

Gamwell, Mrs. Lizzie M. (Gulick) Gay, Mrs. M. E. (Richardson) Waimea, Hawaii. Gilman, Mrs. Sarah Goodale, Warren Goodale, Mrs. Ellen R.* Goodale. Mary E. Goodale, Charles W. Goodale, William W. Goodale, David Goodale, Ellen C. Goodrich, Charles B. Green, Mrs. H. (Parker) Green, Mary T.

66 Honolulu, Oahu. Shelburn Falls, Mass. Waialua, Oahu.

Kawaiahao Sem. Honolulu Hilo, Hawaii.

"

West Winstead, Conn. Hampton, Virginia. Fort Larned, Kansas. Traveling.

Honolulu, Oahu.

Wailuku, Maui. Oakland, California. Honolulu Oalın.

Providence, R. I. Honolulu, Oahu. Keaiwa, Kau, Hawaii.

Marlboro, Mass. Black Hawk, Colorado. Keaiwa, Kau. Marlboro, Mass.

(?) Honolulu, Oahu.

*Deceased.

Green, A. T., Esq. Green, Mrs. Mary (Paris) Gulick, Rev. L. H. Gulick, Mrs. L. (Lewis) Gulick, Sarah F. Gulick, Harriet M. Gulick, Kate V.* Gulick, Sydney L. Gulick, Edward Lacy Gulick, Luther H., Jr. Gulick, Pierre Johnson

Gulick, Rev. O. H. Gulick, Mrs. A. E. (Clark) Gulick, Orramel H., Jr.*

Gulick, Rev. John T. Gulick, Mrs. J. T.* Gulick, Charles F.*

Gulick, Rev. William H. Gulick, Jas. Gordon Gulick, Paul Adams Gulick, Fred. Carleton

Gulick, Theodore W. Gulick, Walter Vose Gulick, Rev. Thomas L.

Gulick, Julia Ann E. Hall, Caroline A.*

Hall, William W. Hall, Mrs. E. (Van Cleve) Hall, William Sibley* Hall, Horace Van Cleve Hall, Charlotte

Hall, Mrs. Mary (Dame) Hardy, Jacob Hardy, Mrs. E. (Andrews)* Hardy, Walter A. Hardy, Mary H.

Hardy, William Hartwell, Mrs. C. E. (Smith) Honolulu, Oahu,

San Francisco, Cal. Cloverdale, Yokohama, Japan. 66

Oakland, Cal.

Hanover, N. H. Yokohama, Japan.

Osaka, Japan,

66

Santander, Spain.

66

66 66

Los Angeles, Cal. California.

Santander, Spain. Osaka, Japan.

Traveling in Europe.

Honolulu, Oahu.

Kauai.

Waiohinu, Kau.

Lahainaluna, Maui.

*Deceased.

| Hartwell, Mabel R.                          | Honolulu, Oahu.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|---------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Hartwell, Edith M.                          | 66 46                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Hartwell, Madeline                          | 66                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Herrick, Mary B.                            | Boston, Mass.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Harvey, Mrs. M. (Tinker)                    | Buffalo, New York.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Heydon, E. A.*                              | ŕ                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Heydon, Edwin*                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Heydon, Asa T.                              | Honolulu, Oahu.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Heydon, Mary*                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Hillebrand, Hermann*                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Hillebrand, Mrs. J. (Bishop)                | "                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Hillebrand, Helen L.                        | " "                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Hillebrand, Mary E.                         | "                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Hitchcock, Ella M.                          | Hilo, Hawaii,                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Hitchcock, Cora E.                          | " "                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Hitchcock, D. Howard,                       | 66 66                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Hitchcock, Almeda F.                        | 66 66                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Hitchcock, C. H. Wetmore                    | "                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Hitchcock, Mrs. C. (Rogers)                 | New London, Iowa.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Hitchcock, Mrs. A. (Hardy)                  | Lahainaluna, Maui.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Hitchcock, Mrs. M.T.(Castle)                | Hilo, Hawaii,                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Hitchcock, Harvey R. 2d.                    | "                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Hitchcock, Mary R. Hitchcock, Hattie C.     | 66 66                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Hitchcock, Edward N.                        | ce cc                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Hitchcock, Mabel W.                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| · ·                                         | Chi Tilliania                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Holman, Thomas S.                           | Chicago, Illinois.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Holmes, Samuel                              | Mont Clair, N. J.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Holmes, Mrs. M. (Goodale)                   | Wellesley College, Mass.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Holmes, Ellen WarrenHolmes, Samuel Judd | Mont Clair, N. J.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Holmes, Mary G.                             | "" "" "" "" "" "" "" "" "" "" "" "" ""                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Holmes, David G.                            | 66 66 66                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Hooker, Mrs. M. V.†                         | Boston, Mass.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Hutchinson, Mrs. M. (Hardy)                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Hyde, Charles K.                            | Honolulu, Oahu.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 11) 40, 01111100 220                        | and the same of th |
| Inch, Mrs. Clara M. (Dibble)                | Washington, D. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Ingraham, Lucretia F.                       | Hilo, Hawaii.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Isenberg, Paul                              | Germany.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

*Deceased. †Member of Ladies' Society of Essex St. Church, Bostor

| Isenberg, Mrs. M. H. (Rice)* |                                       |
|------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Isenberg, Dora               | Germany.                              |
| Isenberg, Paul R.            | "                                     |
| Isenberg, Mrs. Beta (Glade)  | 66                                    |
| Isenberg, J. Carl            | 66                                    |
| Isenberg, J. Carr            |                                       |
| Job, Mrs. Daniel W.†         | Boston, Mass.                         |
| Johnson, A. Frances          | Waioli, Kauai.                        |
| Johnson, Henry               | Kohala, Hawaii.                       |
| Johnson, Ellen A.            | Waioli, Kauai.                        |
| Jones, P. C., jr.            | Traveling.                            |
|                              | "                                     |
| Jones, Mrs. Cornelia (Hall)  | Castine, Maine.                       |
| Jones, Edwin Austin          | Traveling.                            |
| Jones, Ada                   |                                       |
| Judd, Miss H. B.             | Honolulu, Oahu.                       |
| Judd, Helen S.               | "                                     |
| Judd, Charles H.             | "                                     |
| Judd, Mrs. Emily (Cutts)     |                                       |
| Judd, Julie                  | Mills' Sem., Alameda, Cal.            |
| Judd, Helen                  |                                       |
| Judd, E. Pauahi              | Honolulu, Oahu.                       |
| Judd, Charles H., jr.        |                                       |
| Judd, A. Francis             | "                                     |
| Judd, Mrs. A. H. (Boyd)      | 66 66                                 |
| Judd, Agnes Elizabeth        | 66 66                                 |
| Judd, Albert Frances, jr.    | "                                     |
| Judd, James Robert           | "                                     |
| Judd, Allan W.*              |                                       |
| Judd, Juliet I*              |                                       |
| o add, various               |                                       |
| Kekela, Susan.               | Waiohinu, Kau, Hawaii.                |
| Kelly, Mrs. H. B. (Whitney)  |                                       |
| King, Sarah                  | Honolulu, Oahu.                       |
| Kinney, Henry A.             | Oakland, Cal.                         |
| Kinney, Harriet S.*          | - C                                   |
| Kinney, Mrs. S. (Dimond)     | Cedar Rapids, Iowa.                   |
| Kinney, Edward H.            | " " " "                               |
| Kinney, Millie S.            | · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · |
| Kinney, Henry R.*            |                                       |
| Kinney, Helen Julia          | cc 66 66                              |
| Kittredge, Dr. Charles S.    | Honolulu, Oahu.                       |
| Kittredge, Mrs. M. (Chase)   | "" ""                                 |
| Littledge, mis. m. (Onase)   |                                       |

*Deceased. †Member of Lanies' Society of Essex St. Church, Boston.

Kleugel, Mrs. Mary (Taylor) Oakland, Cal.

| La Vargua Gaarga da                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Colorado                                                                   | Springs          | Colorado  |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-----------|
| La Vergne, George deLa Vergne, Mrs E. (Rice) de                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                            | aprings,         | Colorado. |
| La Vergne, Harry de                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 66                                                                         | **               | "         |
| La Vergne, Paul F. de                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 16                                                                         | • •              | 16        |
| Lenehan, F. T.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Honolulu                                                                   | Oahn             |           |
| Lidgate, John M.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Amherst                                                                    |                  | Maga      |
| Ludlow, Helen W.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Hampton                                                                    |                  | 112000-   |
| Lyman, D. Henry M.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Chicago,                                                                   | Illinois         |           |
| Lyman, Mrs. S. K. (Clark)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | omeago,                                                                    |                  |           |
| Lyman, Mary I.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 46                                                                         | 44               |           |
| Lyman, Helen Cossitt                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 66                                                                         | 46               |           |
| Lyman, Julia                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 16                                                                         | 44               |           |
| Lyman, Margaret K.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | "                                                                          | 44,              |           |
| Lyman, F. S.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Traveling                                                                  | g.               |           |
| Lyman, Mrs. I. (Chamberlain)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                            |                  |           |
| Lyman. Ellen G.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Punahou.                                                                   | Oahu.            |           |
| Lyman, F. S., jr.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | **                                                                         | **               |           |
| Lyman. Francis A.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                          | 44               |           |
| Lyman, Levi C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Hilo, Hav                                                                  | vaii.            |           |
| Lyman Ernest E.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                            |                  |           |
| Lyman. Esther R.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | "                                                                          |                  |           |
| Lyman D B ir                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Chicago                                                                    | Illinois         |           |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | cincago,                                                                   | 46               |           |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 66                                                                         | 66               |           |
| Lyman, Frank Cossitt*                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                            |                  |           |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | "                                                                          | 66               |           |
| Lyman, Paul Henry                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 66                                                                         | 66               |           |
| Lyman, Rufus A.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Hamakua                                                                    | . Hawaii         |           |
| Lyman, Mrs. R. (Brickwood)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 66                                                                         | 66               |           |
| Lyman, Lilian H.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Hilo, Hay                                                                  | vaii             |           |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                            |                  |           |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                            |                  | 7         |
| Lyman, Henry J.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | "                                                                          | 66               |           |
| Lyman, Richard L.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 66                                                                         | 66               |           |
| Lyman, Eugene Hollis                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 66                                                                         | 66               |           |
| Lyman, Norman K.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 66                                                                         | 66               |           |
| Lyman, David B. K.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | "                                                                          | 46               |           |
| Lyman, Ellen E.*                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                            |                  |           |
| Lyman. Ellen G. Lyman. F. S., jr. Lyman. Francis A. Lyman. Levi C. Lyman. Ernest E. Lyman. Esther R.  Lyman, Mrs. Mary (Cossitt) Lyman, David B., 3d. Lyman, David B., 3d. Lyman, Frank Cossitt* Lyman, Mary Ellen Lyman, Paul Henry  Lyman, Rufus A. Lyman, Rufus A. Lyman, Lilian H. Lyman, Rufus A. M. | Punahou.  " Hilo, Hav  " Chicago,  "  " Hamakua  Hilo, Hay  Hamakua  " " " | vaii.  Illinois, |           |

*Deceased.

Lyman, Francis O. Lyman, Mrs. C. (Dana) Lyons, Curtis J. Lyons, Mrs. J. E. (Vernon) Lyons, Isabella E. Lyons, Fidelia M. Lyons, Albert B.

Lyons, Elizabeth W. Martin, Mrs. M. (Kekela) Martin, M. Martin, Bella K. McCully, Lawrence McCully, Mrs, L. McCully, Rev. Charles G. McCully, Mrs. Charles G. McCully, Emma Lawrence McCully, Mary Porter McCully, Anna Morse, Mrs. Mary M.1 Moseley, Mrs. S. (Bingham) Union City, Michigan. Moseley, Clara Lydia Moseley, Hiram B.

MoCall, Henrietta W. Mitchell, Mary L. Napoleon, Emma. Nott. Mrs. M. (Andrews) Nicholls, C. Fessenden, M. D. Boston, Massachusetts.

McCall, Mrs. E. (Whitney)

McCall, Carrie E.

Page, Simon§ Palmer, Frank H. Park, Anna C. Parke, Jennie S. Parker, Rev. H. H. Paris, Ella H. Paris John D., jr. Parsons, Mrs. Henry M.*†

Peirce, H. A. (late U. S. Minister Resident).

Chicago, Illinois.

Honolulu, Oahu.

Waimea, Hawaii. Med. College, Detroit, Mich. Kohala Girls' Sem., Hawaii.

Waiohinu, Kau, Hawaii.

Honolulu, Oahu.

Calais, Maine.

New York City. Worcester, Mass.

East Haddam, Conn. 66

Boston, Mass.

Kawaiahao Sem., Honolulu, Honolulu, Oahu.

Hallowell, Maine. Andover, Mass. Bennington, Vt. Honolulu, Oalıu.

Kona, Hawaii, 66

Boston, Mass.

Daughter of Daniel Chamberlain, one of the Ploneer Missionaries. †Member of Ladies' Society of Essex St. Church, Boston. Deacon of the Rev. C. G. McCully's Church, Hallowell, Maine.

| Pitman, T. Henry*           |                    |
|-----------------------------|--------------------|
| Pitman, Mary Ann            | Honolulu, Oahu.    |
| Pitman, Benjamin F.         | " "                |
| Pitman, Maria Kinoole       | Traveling in Europ |
| Pogue, Rev. John F.*        | 0 1                |
| Pogue, Mrs. M. (Whitney)    | Kaneohe, Oahu.     |
| Pogue, Samuel W.            | 66 66              |
| Pogue, Jane K.              | 66 66              |
| Pogue, Emily E.             | 66 66              |
| Pogue, William F.           | Haiku, Maui.       |
| Pratt, Mrs. Sophia H. B.    | Albany, New York   |
| Pratt, A.                   | Haiku, Maui.       |
| Pratt, Mrs. A.              | 66 66              |
|                             | Witnessille Down   |
| Purdon, Mrs. A. M. (Tinker) | Titusvine, Fenn.   |

Reminschneider, Mrs. Ellen L. (Rowell) Honolulu, Oahu. Reynolds, Mrs. L. (Bingham) St. Augustine, Florida. Reynolds, Kate L. 66 Reynolds, Mary C. Reynolds, Erskine H. 66 66 66 Reynolds, Lucy K. Rice, Wm. H. Lihue, Kauai. Rice, Mrs. M. (Waterhouse) Rice, Wm. H., Jr. Rice, Charles Atwood, Rice, Mary S. H.* Rice, Mrs. Lulie (Kinney) Mariposa, Cal. Richards, James A, M.D.* Richards, Helen C.* Rogers, W. Harvey Rogers, Mrs. M. (Rowell)* Makawao, Maui. Rogers, Kate Lincoln Waimea, Kauai. Rogers, Edmund H., Jr. Rowell, Wm. E. Haiku, Maui. Rowell, Marion E. Waimea, Kanai. Rowell, George A. Indianapolis, Ind. Rowell, Mary A. Waimea, Kauai.

Scott, Mrs. H. A. (wife of the U. S. Consul) Honolulu, Oahu. Scudder, Mrs. David C.† Boston, Mass.

*Deceased. †Member of Ladies' Society of Essex St. Church, Boston.

Severance, Mrs. L. (Clark)

Severance, Helen

Severance, Allen Parke

Seymour, T. S. Seymour, Mrs. T. S.

Shipman, W. H.

Shipman, Oliver T.

Shipman, M. Clara Sisson, Mrs. E. (Holden)

Small, Sallie

Smith, A. L. Smith, Emma C.

Smith, Alfred H.

Smith, Juliette

Smith, Mrs. L. (Bates)

Smith, Mrs. M. L. Snow, Caroline

Snow, Fred. Galen

Speer, John E.

Speer, James R. Speer, Hetty M.

Stangenwald, Hugo, M. D. Stangenwald, Mrs. M. C. (Dimond)*

Stangenwald, Mrs. Annie (Di-

mond)

Stangenwald, Willie* Stangenwald, Frank*

Stangenwald, Charlie* Stetson, Mrs. A. M †

Stewart, Martha W.*

Stewart, Charles S.

Stewart, Mrs. C. S. Stewart, Charles S., Jr.

Stewart, Cecil

Stewart, Cora*

Street, Mrs. M. (Anderson)

Sturges, Harriet J. Sturges, Ella M.*

Starges, Juliet Mary

Hilo, Hawaii, 66

66 66

Milford, Iowa.

Hilo, Hawaii.

Amherst College, Mass.

Andover, Mass. Hilo, Hawaii.

York, Penn.

Honolulu, Oahu. Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Smith, Mrs. Minnie (Hobron) Wailuku, Maui.

Koloa, Kauai.

San Francisco, California. East Maui Sem, Makawao.

Auburndale, Mass. Worcester, Mass.

Philadelphia, Penn.

Honolulu, Oahu.

Boston, Mass.

Lieut. Engineers, Pacific Ct,

U. S. A.

San Francisco, California.

66

Exeter, N. H. Denmark, Iowa.

*Deceased. †Member of Ladles' Society of Essex Street Church, Boston.

Sunter, Mrs. S. (Rogers) Waiohinu, Hawaii.

Taylor, Rev. T. E. Nordhoff, Southern California. Taylor, Mrs. P. G. (Thurston)

Taylor, George B.*

Taylor, Henry T. Oakland, California.

Taylor, James T. Taylor, Edward S.

Thompson, Rev. Frank

Thompson, Mrs. Louise Thompson, Carrie L. Hualani

Thompson, Mark V. C.

Thurston, Asa G.*

Thurston, Mrs. S. (Andrews) Makawao, Maui.

Thurston, Robert T.*

Thurston, Lorrin Andrews Thurston, Helen G.

Thurston, Rev. Thomas G. Thurston, Mrs. F. R.*

Thurston, Alice

Tucker, Mrs. Jennie (Scott) Tufts, Mrs. Arthur W.†

Van Cleve, Samuel H.

Van Cleve, Paul L.

Van Duzee, Cyrene

Warfield, Mrs. F. A.+ Waterhouse, J. T., Jr.

Waterhouse, Mrs. E. (Pinder) Honolulu, Oahu.

Waterhouse, Fred. T. B. P.

Waterhouse, Ernest C.

Waterhouse, Henry Waterhouse, Mrs. J. (Dimond) Traveling.

Waterhouse, Eleanor Waterhouse, Mary S.

Waterhouse, Henry., Jr.

Waterhouse, Wm.

Waterhouse, Mrs. L. (Smith)

Weaver, Mrs. E. A. (Armstrong)

Weedon, Walter C.

Windham, Conn.

Honolulu, Oahu.

Honolulu, Oahu.

Makawao, Maui Taylorsville, North Carolina.

Honolulu, Oahu. Boston, Mass.

Minneapolis, Minn.

Ezroom, Turkey.

Boston, Mass.

Traveling.

Honolulu, Oahu. Honolulu, Oahu.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

San Francisco, California. Cleveland, Ohio.

*Deceased. †Member of Ladies' Society of Essex St. Church, Boston.

West, Alice Makawao, Maui. Wetmore, Charles H., Jr.* Wetmore, Fannie M. Hilo, Hawaii. Wetmore, Kate W. Wetmore, Lucy T. Punahou, Oahu. Whitney, Rev. Samuel W. Flushing, Long Island. Whitney, Henry M. Keaiwa, Kau. 66 Whitney, Mrs. C. (March) Honolulu, Oahu. Whitney, Hervey.E. Whitney, Henry M., Jr. Amherst College, Mass. Whitney, James N.* Whitney, Emma M. Punahou, Oahu. Whitney, Albert L.* Whitney, Frederick D. Whitney, John M. D.D.S Honolulu, Oahu. Whitney, Mrs. M. (Rice) Whitney, John Russell Ebon, Marshall Islands. White, Mrs. Sophia (Hall)* White, Lucy Northampton, Mass. White, Edwin O. Whitman, Russell California. Wilcox, Charles H. Oroville, Cal. Wilcox, Mrs. C. H. Wilcox, George N. Lihue, Kauai. Wilcox, Edward P. West Winstead, Conn. Wilcox, Mrs. Mary (Rockwell) Wilcox, Albert S. Lihue, Kauai. Wilcox, Samuel W. 66 66 Wilcox, Mrs. Emma (Lyman) 66 66 Wilcox, Ralph Lyman 66 Wilcox, Lucy Etta Wilcox, Luther Honolulu, Oahu. Wilcox, Clarence S.* Wilcox, Henry H. Agric'l Coll. Amherst, Mass. Wilder, Mrs. E. K. (Judd) Honolulu, Oahu. Wilder, Wm. C.* Wilder, Laura Read Young Ladies' Sem. Napa, Cal Wilder, Gerrit P. Honolulu, Oahu. 66 Wilder, Samuel G.. Jr. Wilder, Helen Kinau 66 66 Wilder, James A. 66 66 Wilkinson, Mrs. Arthurt Cambridge, Mass. *Deceased. †Member of Ladies' Society of Essex St. Church, Boston.

Williams, George C. Kohala, Hawaii.
Williams, Mrs. S. E. (Johnson) " "
Willis, M. Jennie New Bedford, Mass.
Williston, Levi Lyman Cambridge, Mass.
Williston, Mrs. A. (Gale) " "
Winnie, Mrs. Lucy (Taylor) Carson City, Nevada.
Wolfe, Mrs. Nina (Goodale) Waialua, Oahu,

ANNUAL MEMBERS.

| Julia Beckwith,        | Honolulu, Oahu. |      |  |
|------------------------|-----------------|------|--|
| Rev. C. M. Hyde,       | "               | 66   |  |
| Mrs. M. T. Hyde,       | "               | 66   |  |
| Henry Hyde,            | "               | "    |  |
| Miss E. B. Knight,     | "               | 66   |  |
| Henry F. Poor,         | 66              | 66   |  |
| Frederick Wood,        | "               | 66   |  |
| Susan E. Pindar,       | "               | "    |  |
| Emma Waterhouse*       |                 |      |  |
| W. F. Allen,           | 66              | 66   |  |
| Mrs. W. F. Allen,      | 66              | "    |  |
| M. B. Beckwith,        | 66              | 66   |  |
| Mrs. E. S. Beckwith,   | 66              | 46   |  |
| Frank Green,           | Makawao, Maui.  |      |  |
| Laura Green,           | 66              | 66   |  |
| Rev. Frank B. Rose,    | (?)             |      |  |
| Mary Birbank,          | Honolulu, Oahu. |      |  |
| Maggie McIntyre,       | "               | "    |  |
| Mary McIntyre,         | "               | 66   |  |
| Kate McIntyre,         | 66              | 66   |  |
| Lily Lidgate,          | "               | 66   |  |
| Frank P Hastings,      | "               | 66   |  |
| Jos. S. Wilbur.        | "               | 66   |  |
| Mrs. Emma P. Wilbur,   | 66              | 66   |  |
| Charles F. Dillingham, | 66              | 66   |  |
| Mrs. C. F. Dillingham, | 66              | 66   |  |
| Capt. J. Bray,         | Mouning St      | 0.7* |  |
| Mrs. M. E. Bray,       | Morning St      | d1.  |  |
|                        | Honolulu O      | ohn  |  |
| Olivia B. Gulick,      | Honolulu, O     | 66   |  |
| Mrs. Sarah Gillman,    | 66              | 66   |  |
| Jennie S. Parke,       |                 |      |  |
| Mrs. M. L. Smith,      | Makawao, M      |      |  |
| Maggie Hopper.         | Honolulu, C     | anu. |  |

RECAPITULATION.

| Honorary Members—20 living, 3 deceasedLife Members—617 living, 58 deceased | $\begin{array}{c} 23 \\ 675 \end{array}$ |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| Annual Members—32 living, 1 deceased                                       | 69833                                |
| Total                                                                      | 731                                      |

N. B.—Photographs of absent members, to be placed in the "Cousins' Album," may be sent either to the Corresponding Secretary, or to Mr. Wm. W. Hall, Treasurer.

